Reds Proclaim Smashing Victory Over 16th Army

Announcement Is Made as Hitler Says Spring Offensive Shaping for 'Final Struggle'

Nazis Are in Peril

Break-Through Endangers Northern Arm of Nazi Forces

Russia proclaimed a smashing new victory over Adolf Hitler's battered invasion armies today.

Even as the Fuehrer announced that the bitter snows of winter were melting and that he had completed preparations for the "final struggle" this spring.

"Snow and frost brought to a temporary standstill the series of victories of the German army, unique in history," Hitler declared in a message to Nazi party followers.

"Our enemy then hoped to inflict on the German army the fate of the Napoleonic retreat. This attempt has collapsed miserably."

In Moscow, Russians celebrated a communique reporting that the triumphant Red armies had crushed Germany's "fabled" army, shattering three divisions and killing 12,000 troops in the Staraya Russa sector, 140 miles below Leningrad.

Staraya Russa had been a key German base guarding the southern flank of the Nazi armies before Leningrad. A decisive breakthrough by the Russians would gravely endanger the whole northern arm of the German invasion and presumably force a hurried withdrawal of the Nazi siege forces around Leningrad.

Soviet front-line dispatches also reported important new Russian gains during the past 48 hours on the southwest front—presumably between Orel and Kharkov, in the Ukraine—with the slaughter of 2,250 Nazis.

Hitler's Assertion

Hitler asserted that the coming spring struggle would be "a settling-up with that conspiracy which was hatched in the banking houses of the plutocrats and extended to the vaults of the Kremlin."

This was the Hitler who boasted last October 3 that the Russian army "already is broken and will never rise again," who blamed the weather for subsequent reverses, and declared that 1942 "will again be a year of great victories."

Recent dispatches said Russia's scorched earth policy, labor shortage and the flight of thousands of potential workers before the German army had crippled attempts to gear the economy of occupied Soviet areas to that of the Reich.

Belligerent capitals placed varying lights upon the explosion of a bomb in Ankara, the capital of non-belligerent Turkey, on a boulevard only about 18 yards from the strolling German Ambassador, Franz Von Papen and his wife. The man who carried the bomb was killed.

Axis reports said there was a general belief in Berlin that British or Russian agents were responsible.

An Ankara dispatch to Reuters, British news agency, declared, however, that papers bearing the stamp of the German embassy had been found in the clothing of the victim. Von Papen and his wife were not injured.

Forty-three survivors of the U. S. destroyer Truxtun and the U. S. naval supply ship Pollux, which were smashed by a storm with a loss of at least 189 lives off Newfoundland, were hospitalized today, grateful to the villagers of St. Lawrence who pulled them to safety over a 200-foot cliff by a Bosun's chair.

The seamen were cared for at the U. S. Naval base in Argentina, across a bay from the site where their ships were wrecked.

Merchant shipping losses of the war to January 1, 1942, were estimated by the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom at 8,300,000 tons for Britain, her allies and neutral nations and "not less than five or six million tons" for Germany and her Axis partners.

Induction Pace Increases

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The new system of inducing selective service recruits the same day they receive their army physical examinations will be effective as soon as instructions now in the mails reach the local boards, selective service officials said today.

Plan Grows To Halt All Disruption

Request to Congress Is to Be Made to Aid Production Program on Arms

Penalty: Draft

Tentative Plans Would Put Strikers in Line for Army Service

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Drastic "work or fight" legislation may soon be sought by the administration to give the war labor board a strong hand in its task of eliminating all stoppages in arms production.

An informed source predicted today that this request to Congress was likely, and indications were that it would command strong support especially since President Roosevelt called on Americans in his Monday night radio address not to stop work a single day.

Proposals for such legislation were said to have originated with officials charged with responsibility for all-out war production. President Roosevelt has repeatedly stressed the need for uninterrupted production in numerous speeches during the past year, but the arms program nevertheless has lost hundreds of thousands of man-hours because of labor-management, jurisdictional and other controversies.

As outlined by one influential Democratic senator, the legislation probably would include provisions for the immediate drafting into the armed forces of any striking worker who was subject to military service but who had received deferment because of employment in an essential war job.

Under tentative plans, workers not subject to the Selective Service who went on strike would be blacklisted and their employment banned for a period of time by any plant working on a government contract.

The President's call for uninterrupted war production brought predictions in Congress, meanwhile, that if the war labor board failed to find a formula to keep all of the industrial wheels turning without stop, Congress would act to see that the job was done.

Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, said he felt that some legislation might be necessary to give the board broader authority to prevent strikes.

"It just isn't in keeping with any all-out effort to win a war to have anybody stop work, even for an hour," Hill told reporters.

Agreeing with this viewpoint, Senator Ellender (D-Ala.), a member of the labor committee, forecast speedy congressional action if the W.L.B. failed to guarantee the uninterrupted production the President wanted.

This action might come, suggested Senator Taft (R-Ohio), in the form of legislation to freeze the open and closed shop status of war industries and to link wages to the cost of living. Under the latter provision, he said, wages would advance only as the cost of living rose. Taft said he believed members of the W.L.B. would welcome establishment of such general policies.

Like Taft, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) felt that the President's pronouncement called for congressional action to fix policies, although he said he would be glad if the no-strike agreement reached by industry and labor last year could be carried out voluntarily. There was some doubt, he added, whether that agreement was being followed to the letter.

Roosevelt Protests

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt stepped directly into the Senate dispute over farm prices today with a letter protesting that a pending bill represented "selfish interests" at a time the very existence of the country was at stake.

La Guardia Protests

The chief protest against "too strong" state interference with local activities was voiced by La Guardia and echoed by more than a dozen other local representatives.

The New York city mayor demonstrated with gestures and a variety of facial expressions how "extremely difficult" it would be to bring the city into the state defense fold. But when told by Assemblyman Irving Ives, defense committee chairman, his arguments presented "a sound case" for inclusion in the state defense jurisdiction, the mayor retorted:

"That's all right as long as I don't have to take orders from a state defense director, and as long as you let me run New York city."

Provisions in the state's main defense bills which met general approval of La Guardia and other local officials included enforcement of rationing, protection of airports, utilities and highways, organization of air raid warning services, regulations for blackouts and penalties for violations, and recommendations for inter-community cooperation in repairing damage caused to highways and utility services.

Republican majority leaders, engaged in completion of a party economy program further reduced.

Bataan Fighting Might Deteriorate Into Lengthy Siege

Battle for Peninsula Seems at Stalemate; Japanese Leave Supplies in Manila Area

By CLARK LEE

With Gen. MacArthur on the Bataan Peninsula, Feb. 23 (Delayed) (AP)—The battle of Bataan appears to have entered a definite stalemate, with the Japanese abandoning at least temporarily their hitherto costly efforts to crack General Douglas MacArthur's line across the peninsula.

There are at present no indications whether the Japanese are awaiting reinforcements, planning attacks against Bataan and the island fortress of Corregidor from new directions, or whether they are content to tighten their encirclement in an attempt to starve the American-Filipino defense forces into eventual capitulation when supplies and provisions are exhausted.

In the past week infantry activity on the Bataan front has been desultory, while artillery duels between Japanese batteries on the south shore of Manila Bay and the guns of Corregidor and other fortified islands have been intensified. The Japanese have fired hundreds of shells against Corregidor.

In the Manila Bay sector of the Bataan front, which is dominated by American-Filipino artillery, the Japanese have abandoned medical and other supplies which the defenders either captured or destroyed. Hitherto there has been no explanation of these evidences of hasty departure, but the theory has been advanced that the Japanese may have withdrawn some troops from Bataan to prepare defense positions along the Lingayen Gulf and eastern Luzon, fearing American forces will land behind them.

All fronts have been relatively quiet, with artillery action limited generally to counter-battery firing. Japanese aerial activity also has decreased, although the Japanese still control the air and periodically receive additional planes, especially 97 dive bombers which probably were brought by ship from Formosa and landed somewhere in northern Luzon.

Guerrilla Warfare

In various areas of Luzon American-Filipino forces are carrying on guerrilla warfare, raiding Japanese-held towns and picking off Japanese in small groups.

It is generally believed that the Japanese high command is preparing for further assaults against General MacArthur's Bataan positions, but may delay a major drive pending the arrival of reinforcements released from action in the Malaya and Dutch East Indies areas where their main strength is at present occupied.

Heavy casualties suffered by General Homma's Fourteenth Army have undoubtedly contributed to the halting of the Japanese drive. Exact Japanese losses have not been announced.

American Planes Take to Air, Fail to Chase Reported Craft; Unidentified Planes Are Reported; No Bombs

Los Angeles, Feb. 25 (AP)—Anti-aircraft guns fired round after round of ammunition and tracer bullets at an unidentified object which moved slowly down the coast from Santa Monica and disappeared south of the rich Signal Hill oil fields early today.

Army officials declined to comment but speculation quickly arose that an enemy blimp might have passed over the area. This was based on the fact the object required nearly 30 minutes to travel some 20 or 25 miles—far slower than an airplane.

An official source which declined to be quoted directly, told the Associated Press that U. S. army planes quickly went into action. However, just before dawn, another official said no U. S. craft had gone in pursuit because of danger from their own anti-aircraft fire. He said anti-aircraft gunners reported seeing unidentified planes.

No bombs were dropped. The all clear sounded at 7:19 a. m. (10:19 a. m. E.W.T.). Mrs. H. G. Landis, telephoned police that fragments of metal fell about her home and "a chunk of something" dug a hole in her backyard. An arms expert said the fragments were from an anti-aircraft shell.

Police at Venice, 14 miles west on the coast, arrested three Japanese for investigation of reports they were sending flashlight signals from the pier. Venice is just outside an area ordered evacuated of Japanese yesterday.

Craft Not Identified

A newspaperman at San Pedro said airplanes passed over the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor area. The craft were not identified.

There were no reports of any attempt to bomb this area from the air although many war-vital factories, shipyards and other defense industries were on the route the object followed.

Although some watchers said they saw airplanes in the air, semi-official sources said they probably were the U. S. army's pursuits. All of the action clearly spotted.

Coroner Says Boy Confesses He Slew Girl in Theatre

Chicago, Feb. 25 (AP)—A young boy-friend confessed today, Coroner A. L. Brodie said, that he fatally shot brown-haired Dorothy Broz, 17, in the balcony of the downtown Palace Theatre, a mystery that had been baffling for more than a week.

Brodie named the slayer as Clarence McDonald, 17, of suburban Berwyn. He was picked up after police questioned a girl friend of the victim. He told investigators she knew of a theatre where Dorothy had with McDonald the flames beneath the melting pot to white heat, and it may be that this desperate emergency will melt and merge these factions which have been shedding each other's blood for so long.

Various Reports From Far East Indicate Increasing Allied Air Activity

'Planes Destroyed'

Tokyo Radio Declares Japs Destroy 68 Allied Planes

By ROGER D. GREENE (Associated Press War Editor)

Allied warplanes blasting at Japan's sea-borne invaders were credited officially today with sinking three big enemy transports in the critical battle for the Dutch East Indies, while a Tokyo spokesman acknowledged that 26 Japanese transports had been sunk or damaged to date in the Far Pacific.

The spokesman, Commander Itaru Tashiro of the naval press section, said Japan expected even heavier losses because the united nations had more than 1,000 planes in the war zone and 40 to 50 submarines.

A U. S. war department bulletin said seven American P-40 pursuit planes intercepted a formation of nine Japanese bombers escorted by 14 fighter planes over Java and forced the raiders to flee.

The bulletin said one Japanese bomber and one fighter plane were shot down. Four other enemy bombers and two fighters were damaged, without loss to the Americans.

As the day wore on, other united nations triumphs in the air were reported, and it was becoming apparent that for the first time in the 11-week-old conflict Japan was facing a major challenge in the skies.

A Royal Australian Air Force communique said Australian bombers, slashing at Japanese bases 400 to 500 miles north of Australia, attacked both Rabaul, New Britain island, and Timor Island, and set big fires.

Simultaneously, dispatches from Rangoon said 30 Japanese fighter planes were destroyed in the Burma battle area today.

Word of the allies' new aerial counter-punches came as Imperial Tokyo headquarters asserted in an English-language propaganda broadcast that Japanese planes had delivered a "mortal blow to the British and Dutch air forces" with the destruction of 68 allied planes based at Java yesterday.

Dutch headquarters acknowledged big-scale Japanese raids on the harbor and an airdrome near Batavia, against naval objectives near Soerabaja and upon an airdrome near Bandeng, but said the damage was slight.

Tokyo headquarters said Japanese bombers also scored direct hits on an allied cruiser and two 3,000-ton merchant ships.

In the Philippines, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that American and Filipino troops were "uniformly successful in aggressive local actions all along the line" against Japanese invasion forces on Bataan peninsula.

Delayed dispatches said the grim struggle appeared to have entered a definite stalemate, with the Japanese temporarily abandoning their costly attempts to crack General MacArthur's line across the peninsula.

In London, an official spokesman hinted that evacuation of British subjects from the embattled Indies to Australia may already have started, "particularly women and children who are not required locally for the war effort."

A bulletin from N.E.I. headquarters said united nations planes sank two Japanese transports near Macassar, southern Celebes island, and a third elsewhere, and further attacked an airdrome near Japanese-occupied Palembang in lower Sumatra.

Fleet Sighted Off Australia

Australia, herself on guard against invasion, announced that a strong Japanese war fleet had been sighted off Dili, the capital of Portuguese Timor, 400 miles northwest of Australia, and that Japanese parachute troops had landed near Koepang, capital of the Dutch half of the island.

Japanese transports in Dili harbor, however, were reported safe and presumably this was a result of blows struck by the Dutch-Australian garrison of the Portuguese area or united nations warplanes based on Australia or Java.

The Japanese gained a foothold in both the Dutch and Portuguese sections of Timor last week.

Japanese raiders who flew at 20,000 feet killed one person and injured five yesterday in dropping 70 bombs on Port Moresby, southern New Guinea island outpost less than 400 miles off the north tip of Australia, but were said to have caused no important damage to service buildings. The port was attacked again this afternoon.

County Co-ordinator Sends Out 3,300 Cards

The office of Edmund R. Bower, county coordinator for the Victory Garden campaign, is sending out 3,300 cards to Ulster county people who own three acres or more of land. Recipients of these cards are asked to return them, checked as to whether or not they wish to receive educational leaflets about Victory Gardens; whether or not they had a garden in 1941 and if so its approximate size and whether they intend to plant a garden this year and if so how large.

On return the cards will be tabulated as to towns and the list sent to the town Victory Garden chairman, so that each town will receive full credit and recognition for participation. Mrs. William A. Warren of Hurley is chairman for the Victory Garden Council in Ulster county.

It is emphasized that this week, February 23-28, is known as "Home Food and Garden Enrollment Week," and all farmers, as well as town and suburban people who have suitable soil and garden facilities, are asked to enroll in the national Victory Garden program this week.

Mr. Bower asks everybody to return their cards promptly. Undoubtedly there will be many persons who will not receive these cards. Any such who may desire to receive the garden leaflets should call at Mr. Bower's office, 74 John street, Kingston, or address a request to E. R. Bower at that address.

The first of the Victory Garden leaflets is devoted largely to ordering seeds and there is included a chart listing the various kinds of vegetables, three suitable varieties, quantity of seed to buy, approximate feet of row the amount will plant, the time to plant and the days before the vegetables will be ready for use.

Coroner Says Boy Confesses He Slew Girl in Theatre

a real estate man and that she had finished high school this month.

Police had obtained a vague description of the youth who stepped across Dorothy's bleeding body, sprinted up an aisle and escaped in the dark and confusion of the theatre.

Young McDonald directed officials to a garage at his home in suburban Berwyn where the coroner said he had hidden the pistol with which the girl was killed. Later McDonald made a statement to the coroner and Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis.

"We seen the picture and I kissed her and shot her—that's all," the youth was quoted by Brodie as saying.

He added he had had no argument with the girl, but said that he had been going with her "off and on—not steady" for about two years.

When Prosecutor Curtis asked the prisoner how the shooting happened, he replied:

"I don't know. It just happened."

Dorothy, he continued, had felt the pistol in his pocket and had pleaded with him to give it to her, but he refused.

After the shooting young McDonald said he ran to the upper balcony, mixed with the crowd, went to the first floor, then walked out an alley door, later taking an elevated train home, where he burned all of the photographs of himself. Subsequently he said he and a companion went to a moving picture theatre in suburban Cicero.

Miss Elaine Mastney, 17, a senior at the Morton High School, and friend of the victim, was named by the officials as the girl who gave them the information which led to young McDonald's apprehension.

Several days ago, Miss Mastney related, she saw McDonald point a pistol at Dorothy. Miss Mastney said Dorothy told her she was afraid of the youth, quoting him as saying:

"If I can't have you, nobody else will."

Noisy with pistol shots and girl's screams, "Hell-a-Poppin'" had finished and a companion picture "Sealed Lips," had started building its mystery plot.

In the nearly empty balcony, Dorothy was sitting with a young man. Suddenly she cried:

"Help, Oh Help me! He's got a gun!"

Those nearby heard her but associated her cry with the zany antics in the picture just ended. A scene in the crime feature, a fight in a prison mess hall, had the sound amplifiers roaring a perfect cover for the shot that followed by a few seconds.

"Oh, get that man! I'm shot, I'm shot!" Dorothy screamed, then collapsed in an aisle, a bullet beneath her heart.

The show went on and most of the audience that filled the main floor was unaware of the tragedy above. Patrons continued to enter and leave the theatre and police believed the slayer walked out among them. An alarm system showed no emergency exit had been used.

Robbins Denies November Attack

People's case Robbins said he had lived at 49 Cedar street with Frances Jones, his common-law wife with whom he had lived for seven years.

On November 15 last he left work and went to the colored Elks where his wife cooked. Previously he had bought a pint of liquor on North Front street and then took a taxi to the Club. He said he stayed until about 10 o'clock at the Elks Club and then went to Cornell street and Broadway and took a taxi uptown to a saloon where he remained drinking for some time, then went to a second place and later went to the Charles Bassett place on North Front street where he was later arrested.

Had Been Drinking

Robbins said he had been drinking that night. He said he had worn a blue coat and a hat when he left his work but had changed his shirt at the place where he worked on North Front street for a clean one. He denied he had been at his home on Cedar street that night between 6 and 10 o'clock.

Robbins denied he had been in the U. & D. tracks that night and he never saw Miss Manfro or Mr. DuBois. He said he had gone from the Elks on Cedar street to Cornell street and Broadway where he took a taxi from a stand near Jackson's restaurant. He said he was arrested at 117 North Front street by two officers around mid-night.

On cross examination by Mr. Elwyn, Robbins said he had changed his clothes at the shop where he worked and was not at home that evening at all.

Asked if he knew a man named Messing, Robbins said he did not and denied he had been chased away from a car parked back of Jackson's restaurant on Cornell street while engaged in going through the car. He said he had not attempted to ransack any car there. He said Mr. Messing did not grab him and chased him away. Robbins also denied he had stolen the flashlight which was found on his person from the Crystal Gardens.

Says He Pleaded Guilty

Robbins said he had pleaded guilty to assault in city court on November 17, but did not know that it was for an attack on Mr. DuBois on Cornell street on the previous Saturday night.

Asked as to why he was tending bar at the North Front saloon, he said he could not recall. He said he did not recall Mr. DuBois being at police headquarters after his arrest and identifying the flashlight as one with which he had been attacked when he went to the rescue of Miss Manfro.

After drinking the pint of liquor with his friend after he said he had been given on Saturday night. He said he did not know of any rough handling by Roedel on Saturday night.

The statement was offered and at this point Mr. Elwyn asked permission to offer evidence of what happened and to show that Robbins had not signed the statement willingly. He asked to be allowed to call Robbins for the sole purpose of showing what happened prior to the signing of the statement. The court allowed the request and Robbins took the stand to tell his version of threats made.

Robbins was sworn and said he had been arrested on Saturday night by two officers whom he identified as Officers Fitzgerald and Schoonmaker. He said Sergeant Roedel was at the desk when he was brought in but he did not see him.

Sergeant Roedel called the defendant across the hall to the City court chamber, according to Robbins, and "he went to work on me" said Robbins.

Robbins said he told the sergeant where he had been and denied having been on Cornell street. He said he was up town that evening and at home but had not been on Cornell street that night.

Roedel told him it was a lie and he had attacked a woman on Cornell street.

At this point Mr. Elwyn asked that the court room be cleared of anyone who would be a witness to the conversation which allegedly followed. Judge Conway warned the audience that the language to follow would not be such that a genteel person might wish to hear. There were several women in court but few took the opportunity to leave.

Says Roedel Struck Him

Robbins then said he had been seated on a chair in the court chamber when Roedel struck him in the eye so hard he was knocked out of the chair. This was later repeated when Robbins denied having attacked the woman. He said some obscene language was directed toward him and he started to cry. Later he was returned to the waiting room in headquarters and later brought to jail by two officers one of whom carried a shotgun.

Monday Morning Robbins said was taken to headquarters and interviewed by Boss and Chief Phinney. He said while there he was locked in the cell in the police station with two other men and a stout man he did not know was brought in and looked over the three prisoners. L. I. Boss pointed out Robbins to the man. Later one of the prisoners asked if that was the way they identified prisoners in Kingston.

Later Robbins said he signed the statement which had been prepared. He could not read it and he did not recall the chief reading it to him. He said he had signed it because he was afraid and also because Chief Phinney told him he would do what he could for him and that he probably would get about 30 days or a small fine. He said Chief Phinney told him how many young fellows he had helped out of trouble and he said he signed the paper in order to get out.

Phinney Is Called

Chief Phinney was called first to the stand at the opening of court. He said he had not been on duty on Saturday when Robbins was brought in by Officers Fitzgerald

Hershey Says Every Man May Be in Army

Chicago, Feb. 25 (AP)—Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, believes "the time might come when every able-bodied man may be compelled to join the armed forces."

Addressing the Illinois Manufacturers' Association last night, he said "it is essential to make efficient use of every man, woman and child capable of assisting in America's war effort."

Before next January 1, Hershey said, the armed services must add two million men and war industries ten million.

and Schoonmaker, but was there on Monday morning. Chief Phinney said he had known Robbins for at least 10 years.

When Robbins was brought to his office Monday he asked Robbins if he was in trouble again, and told Robbins to tell the truth. Robbins said he would and then made a statement that he had been on Cornell street about 10:30 o'clock on Saturday night when he saw a woman walking on the street near the U. & D. crossing. Robbins, according to the chief, said he had been drinking beer, whiskey and wine and when he saw the woman walking ahead of him he accosted her and grabbed her. She tried to pull away but he had taken her over behind some box cars on the siding and a struggle ensued. Robbins told the chief that he did not know the woman at the time and had not known the man who came to her rescue. Later he learned their names.

Chief Phinney said he prepared a statement from Robbins story and requested his signature after informing Robbins as to his rights. Robbins said he could not read but Chief Phinney said he read the statement to the defendant and it was signed in the presence of Lieut. Boss.

Mr. Elwyn cross-examined the chief and asked whether he knew that Robbins had been roughly handled on Saturday night. Chief Phinney said he had never been told about any rough handling of the defendant.

His Version Is Same

Lieut. Boss was next called and gave practically the same version of the affair as Chief Phinney had. He said he had been on duty Saturday night and saw no rough handling of the defendant.

On cross-examination he said he never heard anyone tell Robbins on Monday that he had been roughly handled. He said he would get what he had been given on Saturday night. He said he did not know of any rough handling by Roedel on Saturday night.

The proposal was offered some 60,000 producers in New York, Vermont, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

that he would get off easy.

The paper was offered in evidence and the court reserved decision on its admission.

Leander Robbins, 30, of Cedar street, was identified Tuesday by Miss Mary Manfro as the negro who attacked her on Cornell street on the evening of November 15, 1941 as she was returning to her home from the movies. She said that she was going through Cornell street near the U. & D. railroad crossing when a negro put his arm about her and when she protested he started to drag her toward box cars standing on the siding.

Asked if she could identify her assailant, she said she could as the attack took place under a street light and she had plainly seen him. She identified Robbins, the defendant, who was seated with his counsel in court as the man.

Miss Manfro, complaining witness in the attempted rape case, said she had endeavored to draw away from the negro but he followed and grabbed her. Her offer to give him all the money she had was spurned and she was being dragged up the railroad tracks when she cried out for help. Edward DuBois, who was near when she came to her aid. She said she believed DuBois was cutting across from O'Neil street to Cornell street at the time. When DuBois arrived she pulled away from her assailant and DuBois was then assaulted with a flashlight which the defendant carried.

The negro attempted to follow her when she returned to Cornell street but finally started uptown when DuBois threatened him, if he persisted in the attack. The police were notified and made an investigation.

DuBois was called and testified to coming to the scene and finding Miss Manfro being taken to the cars which stood on the siding. He said he went to her aid and was attacked by the negro but finally drove the man off. Later he saw the defendant enter a house on North Front street and notified the police and they went to the place and located Robbins and he was taken to headquarters.

Mr. DuBois said Officers Fitzgerald and Schoonmaker had arrived in the police car and picked up Robbins. The officers testified to having made an investigation of the alleged crime and later picking up Robbins.

Selection of the jury was completed quickly Tuesday in county court before Judge J. Edward Conway and the trial of the indictments which charge attempted rape and also assault was taken up. Hugh Elwyn appears by assignment for the defendant.

Young Says Milk Price Changes Do Not Help Farmer

The New York milk order announced yesterday.

The department's proposals followed hearings held in New York on Thursday for dairymen for an upward revision of prices and other changes in the milk order.

No action was taken on a suggestion by Young that the metropolitan marketing area be extended to include parts of central, eastern and southeastern New York, northern New Jersey and northeastern Pennsylvania, and other producer proposals for changes in the plan of cooperative payments and revision of differentials.

The department said these proposals were being held in abeyance for further study.

Critical View Is Taken

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Spokesmen for two of the major dairy farmer organizations seeking $3.86 a hundredweight was class one fluid milk value critically an agriculture department proposal for $2.85 payments—65 cents above schedule—in April, May and June.

The figure suggested yesterday would be a drop of 26 cents a hundredweight (45 quarts) from the current price of milk sold in the six-state metropolitan New York milkshed. Present provisions of the federal-state order governing the market call for a 91-cent cut April 1.

Harry A. Carnal, secretary of the 22,000-member Dairy Farmers' Union, said the class one price "doesn't mean a thing" and asserted the price of milk sold in the six-state metropolitan New York milkshed. Present provisions of the federal-state order governing the market call for a 91-cent cut April 1.

He forecast producers generally would be dissatisfied with the proposed return, which dairymen and handlers would have to approve after March 7, deadline for the dairy industry's filing of objections.

Carnal's view coincided with that of Charles H. Baldwin, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, who predicted dairy farmers would be "quite disappointed."

Both called the price "still not enough," but some observers expressed the opinion $2.85 would be a top for the high-producing months in at least a decade. Producer dissatisfaction has been based on abnormal production costs stemming from a labor shortage and the 1941 drought.

State Agriculture Commissioner Holton V. Noyes termed the figure "a price increase for the flush period, which will help offset increased production costs."

The proposal would affect some 60,000 producers in New York, Vermont, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

not been estimated, but it is certain that thousands—perhaps as high as 30,000—have been killed or wounded.

Some 2,000 Japanese have been killed by the American-Filipino defenders alone. They were wiped out in attempted landings on the west coast, and in thrusts against the west central section of the front, where Japanese were annihilated by artillery fire. An entire Japanese infantry regiment is believed to have been killed in the west coast landing attempts.

Terrific Toll of Japanese

The artillery took a terrific toll of the Japanese, who in the early days of the Bataan fighting used to march in close order down the roads commanded by American tanks. Several times artillery of the defenders fired into concentrations of between 500 and 1,000 Japanese, destroying nearly all of them. Their fanatical charges into American-Filipino machine gun nests also cost the Japanese heavily.

In the current phase of limited patrol activities, the Japanese show little inclination to fight, usually withdrawing when they encounter American-Filipino patrols even inferior in numbers.

There are some indications that Japanese morale is not as high as formerly. This is admitted by many prisoners, who say they are sick of fighting. Recent prisoners stripped themselves of all means of identification and attempted to deny they were soldiers, claiming they were residents of Manila who were pressed into service as bus drivers by the Japanese army.

However, these men are unable to speak English or Filipino and their stories were quickly broken down. On the other hand, the morale of General MacArthur's men is excellent. They want to keep on fighting and are counting on the United States to give them the tools with which to do so.

The current stalemate is a further indication that General MacArthur outmaneuvered the Japanese at every turn since they landed on Luzon. The main Japanese strategy on Luzon was to land hordes of youngish, untrained troops in the Lingayen area in the belief MacArthur would rush his main forces there. Then, experienced, well-equipped Japanese troops were to close in from behind after landing at Atimonan and other points on eastern Luzon. The Japanese carried out their landings as scheduled, but when they tried to trap General MacArthur, his forces were already moving into Bataan, where they have been holding since early January.

The next move is up to the United States.

new freedom applies only to British India (that is, the provinces with their population of 296,000,000) or also to native India (which comprises the states under the princes who rule a population of 93,000,000). There long has been talk that some day all India might be made to work together in political harmony, and possibly something of this sort might be tried now.

However, even if the warring factions of British India be brought together, the powerful princes will still be reluctant to engage in any program which may deprive them of their prerogatives. They are fiercely jealous of their "rights," as I well know, having spent much time among them.

I never think of princely prerogatives without getting a mental picture of the mountains of priceless gems which these rulers sport. Now the mention of jewels in a political article may seem irrelevant. But not so. Those glittering baubles, which represent the wealth and regal splendor which most of the princes cherish so highly, are symbolic of conditions which will help to make political unity in India, very difficult to achieve. For those gems come from the grinding toll of the millions.

Then there is another aspect of the position as regards native India. While I was guest of the late Maharajah of Gwalior, I raised the question of what would happen if England ever decided to grant British India freedom, and also cut the princes loose.

"Who would be king?" he countered quizzically.

"Your Highness means there must be a king?" I asked.

"Of yes," he said. "Well, I'll tell you what would happen. I maintain a sizeable standing army. Frankly I should be at the throat of my next-door neighbor. So would all the other princes. We would fight it out to see who would be ruler. And India would be in chaos."

Gwalior felt that it was best for India to remain under the British king-emperor, and many other princes felt the same. However, this may prove to be British India's great moment, when neither princes nor paupers will block progress.

Local Bank Buys City Bond Issue; 13 Bids Are Made

Kingston's bond issue of $168,000 recently authorized by the Common Council was bought at the sale yesterday afternoon at the city hall by the National Ulster County Bank. The sale marks the first time in several years a local bank made a purchase of city bonds.

The issue comprises $150,000 general bonds of 1942 and $18,000 general bonds series 1. They were bid in by Edward H. Remmer, president of the bank, at an interest rate of one and one quarter per cent, combined with a premium of $25.20. Although the interest rate is somewhat higher than that of previous issues, city officials consider it a fair rate in view of current conditions.

Thirteen bidders were represented in the sale conducted by City Treasurer William B. Byrne. Wood Struthers & Co., of New York was second in the bid with a rate of 1.40 per cent and Harrison Ripley and Co., of New York was third with one and one half per cent.

The issue of $150,000 is to pay part of the cost of public improvement work relief projects and the $18,000 is to go toward the cost of local home relief.

Samaritans Safer

3.—'If You Can Keep Your Head'

By L. M. Thompson, M.D., Assistant Director First Aid, Water Safety and Accident Prevention Service of The American National Red Cross

Speed is responsible not only for a large proportion of accidents; it is frequently the cause of death following injury.

Those who gather at the scene of an accident are more than curious. They have a strong desire to help. But the one idea most frequently uppermost in their minds is the necessity of haste.

More often than not, the newspaper accident story should read: "Because the victim was rushed to the hospital he was pronounced dead on arrival."

Now here are plenty of emergencies in which haste is vitally important. But there are no emergencies in which it pays to do the wrong thing.

If the victim is suffering from a spinal injury, if he has broken ribs or internal injuries, the difference between life and death may well depend upon the manner in which he is moved. If he is bleeding from a severed artery, if he is the victim of poison, or if breathing is suspended for any reason, prompt transportation to the hospital will hardly suffice to save him.

It is therefore plain to see that effective emergency action is primarily a matter of knowing what to do and being able to do it.

The Red Cross defines First Aid as "the immediate, temporary care given in case of accident or sudden illness before the services of a physician can be secured." That is a brief definition but it sometimes covers a good deal.

On reaching the scene of an accident the First Aid trained individual will quickly find out for himself just what has happened. He will immediately offer his cooperation, or, if there is no physician present, will assume the necessary leadership. In this he will have no difficulty if he is calm and sure in manner and actions. Bystanders who do not know what to do will be relieved and yield him authority if he announces that he has been trained by the Red Cross in first aid, and then reveals by his confidence and actions that he knows what he is doing.

The first-aiders can make good use of members of the crowd, and it is well to keep them occupied as fully as possible to forestall well-intended criticism or possible interference. But he must first of all determine the nature and extent of the victim's injuries as surely and quickly as possible, for that will largely determine his subsequent actions.

If he has found someone present who apparently can be relied upon to help, he can make use of such assistance in summoning a physician. Others can be asked to find out what necessary materials and equipment are at hand for use in caring for and transporting the victim.

In communicating with the physician it is vitally important to be calm and explicit. A little care and extra time given to that task may well prevent mistakes and the loss of a great deal more time from that point on.

The physician should be given the exact location of the accident and, if necessary, careful directions as to how to get there. He should also be informed of the nature of the victim's injuries, of what has been done and of what equipment is at hand. It is likewise important to find out whether the physician has any instructions for further action pending his arrival, and there should be a clear understanding about arrangements for transportation.

In caring for the victim there are certain procedures which should be followed. He must be kept lying down, in a comfortable position, with the head level. This will help prevent fainting and the condition called shock. Only if the face is flushed, the head may be slightly raised. If there is vomiting turn the head slightly to one side.

The injured person must be kept warm. This is essential in preventing shock. If the weather is cool, it is just as important to wrap the patient on the under side as to cover him over.

If the injury is of the arm, leg, or body, it is advisable to cut or rip the clothing from the injured part. To remove clothing in the usual way is likely to cause unnecessary suffering and may aggravate the injury.

Stimulants are often helpful, particularly in cases where the injured persons shows symptoms of fainting or shock. It is well to remember that alcohol is not a stimulant and should never be used as such. The best stimulants are strong, hot tea or coffee, or aromatic spirits of ammonia, a teaspoon to the glass of water. Most injured persons may be given water to drink, but should take it slowly, in sips.

A proper mental attitude on the part of the victim promotes cooperation and aids recovery. The first-aiders should cheer him, allay his fears and keep him hopeful. And the first-aiders if he can keep his head, will not be hurried into moving the injured person, unless absolutely necessary, until a clear idea of the nature and extent of injury is obtained and First Aid has been rendered.

Midweek Service

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets, continues its mid-week Lenten program with a service of worship on Thursday at 7:45 p. m. The Rev. Russell S. Cards Are Necessary

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Failure to carry your draft registration card with you at all times is a serious offense, and if you don't believe it ask Harry Rosenfeld, who left his at home just once. You can find him in jail, where he is being held in $1,000 bail on that charge, for which the maximum sentence if convicted is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Rosenfeld, 41, was arrested when a port authority policeman noticed him loitering near the waterfront and called a federal agent whose first question was: "Where's your draft card?"

Coast Chapter Is in Readiness for Disasters

San Francisco—Faced with the threat of enemy bombing forays over the west coast, American Red Cross disaster relief experts have established 13 emergency stations here and are making arrangements to open six new stations in the near future.

The depots are located in modern school buildings and are stocked with first aid and rescue equipment in addition to canteen supplies and equipment. Each station has an emergency surgical room.

More than 3,000 highly trained disaster relief workers under the direction of Thomas Larke, Jr., are prepared to man the stations. Each station can call upon rescue workers who have taken Red Cross Advanced First Aid courses and are trained in the use of ropes, axes, crowbars and jacks to extricate injured persons from wrecked buildings.

All emergency stations are organizing a corps of 27 Red Cross nurses to serve in three "on-call" shifts of nine nurses each.

In addition to the emergency stations, the Red Cross plan calls for the organization of groups of roving first aid and rescue workers who can be dispatched to the scene of trouble to render immediate aid to bombing or disaster victims.

Agents Detain Former Countess

Wife of Kearny Industrial Firm President Taken in Palm Beach

Orange, N. J., Feb. 25 (AP)—The former Countess Erica Von Haacke of Germany has been taken into custody by F. B. I. agents in Palm Beach, Fla., as an enemy alien, her mother-in-law said last night.

The wife of Abraham G. H. Reimold, president of the Woburn Degreasing Company of Kearny which is operating 60 per cent on war work, was wintering with her husband in Florida, she said.

Mrs. A. G. Reimold, the mother-in-law, said she was in their Orange home Monday night when the federal agents came and seized cameras, a gun, literature and other matter.

"I couldn't imagine what was happening when the men came, but they treated me with perfect courtesy. They took away my radio and even binoculars my late husband bought on the only trip he ever made to Europe. But they promised to see that I got them back. I don't understand it all, but I do know that neither my son nor his wife would do anything to hurt this country."

Mrs. Reimold said she was convinced her daughter-in-law was innocent, adding:

"Erica was planning to take out citizenship papers. She lost her citizenship in Germany at the time of her marriage and has no one left in Germany but her mother."

The former countess, whose family owns the 70-room Silesian Castle Althwarthau 500 years old, was wed to Reimold in London in 1937. Reimold, a native of Indiana and a Yale graduate, was a lieutenant in the American army in the first World War, his mother said.

J. Edward Good of Nyack, N. Y., vice president of the Woburn firm, said in a statement that "the F. B. I. went through a number of our records and books and found we have not had any dealings with enemy aliens or questionable transactions whatsoever."

He said the former countess in 1939 told him "I am an American now. I realized when I married an American that I was automatically giving up German citizenship." Good said he was sure that was her sentiment today.

The F. B. I. in Newark declined to comment on the case.

Woman Accepts $8,500 Settlement in Bridgeport

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Florence Giglio of New Rochelle, N. Y., whose husband, Dominic, was struck and killed by a wheel that came off a truck has accepted, as administratrix of her husband's estate, an out-of-court settlement of $8,500.

Announcement of the settlement came yesterday as trial of her suit for $15,000 started its second week in Superior Court. Defendants were Frank Farino of Norwalk, the truck driver; Nicholas Corso of Stratford, his employer, and the J. W. Hine Company of New Haven which had made repairs on the truck.

Giglio was killed on a New Rochelle street corner last July 26.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 25, 1942.

THEY ALSO SERVE

Book publishers are not generally thought of as public benefactors. When they get out some worthwhile book which we are glad to own, we reflect that after all that is their business, and they are not in it for their health. That does not prevent them from incidentally doing a great deal of good.

J. B. Priestley, British novelist, says that the popular "Everyman's Library" series of books has done more for education in Great Britain than some of their universities. He is seconded by Stanley Unwin, a business rival of his publisher.

Unwin tried to get a British university to give his competitor, Hugh Dent, publisher of Everyman's Library, an honorary degree, but he was unable to get enough support for his idea. We like to think our American universities are not so stodgy. And we are certain that the publisher who puts great books, or merely pleasant or useful books, into the hands of many people, is doing his country a service.

POLISH PROPHECY

Nostradamus is not the only prophet to be dragged out of obscurity. In 1940 the Polish press bureau in London published a prophecy said to have come out of a spiritualistic seance in 1893. In it occurs this passage: "When the suffering of the people shall have lasted thirty years, there will arise a great heart who shall perform the miracle."

By the Poles' reckoning from other parts of the prophecy, the thirty years will expire in 1943. Then, by their interpretation, Poland will regain its independence. But surely there are other miracles to which the text might apply equally well. One other passage is much clearer: "When the black eagle reaches the crossroads and turns its eyes toward the East to spread its Teutonic habits, it shall return with a broken wing." That sounds very much like a statement that Germany will fail in a Russian campaign.

The trouble with interpreting most prophecies, however, is that people put into them too much wishful thinking. It would do interpreters no harm to live in Missouri.

PLANES AGAINST SUBS

War is just one blamed thing after another. We are now faced with the submarine menace in both the Atlantic and the Pacific. It is particularly strong in the Atlantic. The Germans have more and better subs than they had in the last war, vessels of longer range and greater speed.

But so have we. This is a game that two can play. It is harder now because we have to take care of the sea assassins in two oceans, possibly three; but we have big manufacturing power, rapidly growing, for both sea and air defense.

Bombing planes should give us now better protection for warships and freighters than we have ever had before. Submarines can be seen and attacked from the air far better than from the water. With flocks of bombers patrolling the main sea lanes and harbor approaches, we should be able soon to take care of that peril.

MILLSTONES

"Whoever is guilty of bringing about disunity," said Winston Churchill in a recent speech, "of him let it be said that it were better that a millstone were hung about his neck and that he were cast into the sea."

That would be a good motto to hang up in the home or the office. Our nation is intrinsically the strongest in the world. United on public policy it can carry any burden, accomplish any task. The only danger is lack of unity. We are probably as united now as we have ever been, but there are enemies working to confuse our minds and divide our loyalties. They must be overcome at whatever cost.

HITLER'S KISS

Even the fairy tales have been taken over by the Nazis. The well-known story of the Sleeping Beauty is now explained as referring to a Germany bewitched by alien powers. The prince whose kiss awakens her is, of course, Adolf Hitler.

Snow White, too, has become Nazi propaganda. The tale describes her as "white as snow, red as blood, and black as ebony." As white, red and black are the German colors, the propagandists' argument is clear.

We used to think it bad enough when we had to read stories with a moral. The German versions of the fairy tales are much worse. They might be called stories with an immoral.

NEUTRAL SWEDEN

Sweden is often blamed for subservience to Hitler. But the Swedes are directly under Germany's shadow, and when we recall what has happened to other small countries that dared to cross the Nazis, we can hardly criticize the Swedes. However, not all their contributions to the war have been on the German side. More than one-sixth of their merchant tonnage has been sunk, most of it while sending goods to England.

Napoleon must have foreseen the Vichy puppets who govern France for, but not in the name of, Hitler. He said, "A general under the power of the enemy has lost the right to give orders."

As for these Japanese boasts of conquest, we're not saying "Come and get it." We'll go there in due time and give it to them. Plenty.

The idea's sound, but it still seems a little queer to see the headline, "Women set to man machines."

The way people are crowding into Washington these days, the poor old capital may explode.

If British and American planes are being saved for an emergency, what do we call this?

One of the ways to "keep democracy from dying" is to give China all possible help.

Great stuff, Dutch boy—keep your finger in that dike!

HEART DISEASE IN CHILDREN

There is, naturally, great sympathy in the hearts of most of us for the child struck down with infantile paralysis and also for the parents of the child. While most cases recover without severe paralysis, the number of children crippled by this disease is so large that private and public funds are now made available for correcting deformities and getting the child into the best possible condition to face life despite this handicap.

However, as there is another disease of children that destroys seven times as many children as infantile paralysis, it seems only fair that we should know about these children and that public and private help be given them. I am referring to rheumatic heart disease.

Dr. Alexander T. Martin, New York City, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, says: "In one sense, the child stricken with infantile paralysis is more fortunate than the child stricken by rheumatism because the child with rheumatic heart disease may have more attacks which may further cripple his activities or even cause death. In fact, every fresh attack means the likelihood of further attacks. On the other hand, infantile paralysis, as dread a disease as it is, usually causes no further attacks and the afflicted child may expect some improvement. Many children who contract infantile paralysis recover completely. Very few children who contract rheumatic fever escape without some damage to the heart."

How can these crippled children be helped? Dr. Martin reports his investigation over a period of twenty years (1921-1941) of 1398 children with rheumatic heart disease who were given care in the three country homes. The average age of the first attack was from 6 to 8 years.

Of this 1398 children, 431 are dead after twenty years. Of the 967 living, Dr. Martin was able to follow about 90 per cent.

To show what watchful care in an institution or in a foster home can accomplish for these heart cripples, the report states that 357 are regularly employed at gainful occupations, 10 have irregular employment; 260 are in a regular or public school; 83 are in a special class in school for heart patients, and 14 have a visiting teacher.

As the average length of time this country home care requires for the best possible results is only six months, this work for heart cripples is certainly worth while.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—In spite of all the complaints and calumny heaped on the head of the American business man for his halting, jerky progress military preparation, some pretty astute observers here are already beginning to say that he probably will emerge as one of the war's real heroes.

Putting the United States industrial machine into high gear is like trying to get an elephant away from the barrier in time to keep up with the field at the Kentucky Derby. The point is that the only jockey that could ride herd on the brute at all is that afore-mentioned American business man.

What brought all this on was that wandering around the marble halls of the War Production Board building recently, I got a look-see into Chairman Donald M. Nelson's system of breaking bottle necks. Just who is the real author of the system, nobody seems to know, but it's a beautiful example of how that A.B.M. is keeping the pachyderm on the track.

It's what is known as the Progress Reporting Division. It sounds dull. Most of the work in it is. But the results obtained aren't. The P.R.D. has a list of more than 300 principal military items now in production. Almost every minute of the day, "progress" sheets on each one of those items drops on the desk of one of P.R.D.'s officials.

It shows to the day, almost to the hour, exactly what the production status of that article is, and the minute a lag shows up, the division reports to the proper W.P.B. executive who takes steps to pick up the slack.

For example there are dozens of units that go into a tank. There are tank hulls, motors, transmissions, guns, treads, etc. A bottle neck in any one of these will stop one whole section of the entire tank program.

Almost as soon as there is a slow-down in the tank program, the P.R.D. official knows it. He calls for a breakdown on the tank production sheet. He gets another immediately that may show the lack in transmissions. He gets another breakdown sheet, showing progress at all factories producing tank transmissions and then the trouble-shooting starts.

In some instances, P.R.D. officials say, they have been able to spot the source of a bottle neck within 30 minutes after it first appeared on the initial progress sheet.

There is plenty of red tape in the war production effort, even outside political circles. Any one who sets out to look for it, doesn't have to look far.

The insignia of army officials stationed here is a blue star on a white background, encircled with a narrow band of red. Washingtonians are fond of saying, "That's a general in a white fog, surrounded by red tape."

Sometimes, it seems that the whole business is like that, but it isn't and in spite of all the red tape there is, the U. S. production machine is gathering steam.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting; Reports Made

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Kingston Post 150, was held Friday evening, February 20, with the president, Mrs. Bernice Jansen, presiding, and 22 members present.

Mrs. Hilda Silis, chairman for Americanism, reported that several members had attended the presentation ceremonies of an American flag to the city of Kingston by the American Legion and also requested that members display the American flag at their homes for the "duration."

Mrs. Lena Roche reported that the organization had contributed generously both cash and services on the President's Ball for the Infantile Paralysis Fund.

Miss McManus, of the Good Cheer committee, has sent sympathy cards to several bereaved members during the month.

The Juniors expressed a desire to contribute to both the Ambulance and Red Cross War Fund.

Mrs. Jansen accepted with regrets the resignation of Mrs. Lynn Wessels as publicity chairman and appointed Mrs. Culver Ten Broeck to complete her term.

Mrs. Sam Mann reported a total paid up membership of 117 to date and Mrs. Roy Jacobs of Emergency Voluntary Service gave a splendid account on civilian defense work by members.

Mrs. Herman DuBois has arranged for a national defense window display this week at Flanagan's clothing store on Wall street. The models and clothing are loaned by Nugent's and by Mrs. Stanley Matthews and the decorating arranged by Paul Purcell. Mrs. DuBois also gave a very interesting reading on "Our Defense Industries."

Mrs. Harry Whitney and Mrs. Christopher Roche were appointed to have charge of a cafeteria supper sometime in March.

A motion was made to arrange for a special speaker at the next meeting, also to contribute to the Easter Fund for Castle Point Veterans' Hospital.

Mrs. Lester Sanford, treasurer, announced that the defense bonds purchased by the organization had been received.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Feb. 25—The Woodstock O. C. D. had the following to report on the recent blackout:

"The trial blackout last week demonstrated the supreme importance of the air raid wardens and the special police in this sort of an emergency. Many people in the community did not hear the warnings to blackout given by the fire apparatus. Most people knew the thing was to occur and so blacked out even before the alarm was given. But what would happen if we were required to blackout without long notice in advance as in last week's trial. Here is where the air raid wardens and the special police come in. Their job is to go out and enforce it. For that reason in most cases there are preliminary stages before the general public alarm is given during which these officials go out to blackout the more conspicuous lights such as those on the streets and in public buildings and business concerns. That is why the street and store lights in the village were extinguished some time before the fire apparatus gave the alarm. So please take it seriously when an air raid warden or a special police officer asks you to put out your lights before you hear any general alarm, because it means he has been told to carry out a blackout. Obey your wardens and auxiliary police."

The Woodstock O. C. D. is requesting that residents of the town who have not already registered will do so as soon as possible. It requires a long list of registrants to permit a choice of persons most fitted for the branches of the work in connection with Civilian Defense. A large number of persons are now being prepared for important positions. As these persons are released from the required training in First Aid, Home Nursing, Fire Defense, and Gas Defense they will be called upon to take an active part in the emergency services, or as instructors for new classes which may be formed.

If the need arises, the Civilian Defense may, through the Red Cross or the Farm Bureau or other affiliated agencies, initiate classes on instruction in wider fields of service. However, the immediate needs must be filled first.

All residents of Woodstock are expected to co-operate in this effort, which is planned only for this township and county, but as part of a country-wide agency of protection.

Those who have been outstanding in their cooperation by contributing to take evacuees into their homes, in the case of an emergency, may not be expected to take a large share in the Civilian Defense activities at the present time, but they will be ready to assume valuable responsibilities when, and if we receive our share of evacuees.

In the meantime, the householders are urged to assist in the national effort to salvage waste materials, conserve gas and oil, and by the growing and canning of more vegetables for themselves and neighbors, and also doing their share of sewing and knitting for the Red Cross.

Woodstock, Feb. 24—Definite arrangements are at present being completed for the victory gardens to be managed and operated by the Woodstock citizens during the summer. The produce, it is stated, will be for individual consumption, and no arrangement will be made for storing it.

Various people who have available land have signified their willingness to allow it to be plowed, and made adaptable for the growing of vegetables. Victor Cannon of the Cannon ranch will be in a position to use a tractor on this land and make it of use for these purposes. Also there will be a manager of the garden project established at the Comeau building, along with the other victory activities, and it will be his job to offer advice and counsel on these matters and distribute seed. It's One Thing for F. D. R. to Prime U. S. Morale, Another for Churchill to Knock It Down
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 25—Judging by comments of the man on the street President Roosevelt's optimistic assurances concerning the future and his emphatic repudiation of the pessimism that grew up as a result of the attack on Pearl Harbor are apparently what the American people like to hear.

Morale building is important but if the tactics of artificially created impression are to be successfully maintained and critics are to be deprived of the basis for many of their comments, it will become necessary for the American government politely to ask Prime Minister Churchill to refrain from making speeches to the House of Commons discussing the condition of the American battle fleet in the Pacific.

It will be recalled that when the prime minister returned from his American visit of December he spoke of the American battle fleet in the Pacific as "crippled" temporarily. Last week in explaining the fall of Singapore, he told the British House of Commons that he had heard in the United States: "By an act of sudden and violent surprise . . . the shield of sea power which was protecting the fair lands and islands of the Pacific Ocean was for the time being dashed to the ground. Into the gap thus opened rushed the invading armies of Japan. . . . The overthrow for awhile of British and United States sea power was like the breaking of some mighty dam. . . ."

After hearing the above on February 15 the American people were given in a fireside chat of February 23 this version by President Roosevelt:

"Of all the combatant ships based on Pearl Harbor—battleships, heavy cruisers, light cruisers, destroyers and submarines, only three were permanently put out of commission."

"Very many of the ships of the Pacific fleet were not even in Pearl Harbor. Some of those that were, were hit very slightly and others that were damaged have either rejoined the fleet by now or are still undergoing repairs. When those repairs are completed the ships will be more efficient fighting machines than they were before."

This certainly doesn't sound like a "crippled" fleet or a fleet that has been put out of commission for very long and it is reassuring news because it evidently means the Japanese have a surprise in store for them in the speed with which our Pacific fleet is going to be restored to the fighting strength it had prior to Pearl Harbor with the exception of course of the three ships "permanently" put out of commission.

Just how long the damaged ships will be undergoing repairs is important military information and that's why the President did not disclose any specific dates. But the tenor of his address was to the effect that the damaged ships would soon be back on the fighting line. If they are not, and his prophecy proves wrong, the whole war will by that time have taken a turn in so many other directions that it will only be of academic importance to debate whether the President's fireside chat of February 23, 1942 was or was not over-optimistic.

The President incidentally did a superb job in hammering away at the Axis propaganda and also in pointing out the importance of big distances and shipping to the future trend of this war. His discussion of our naval strategy will, of course, stir up plenty of debate among the naval experts. He gave the impression that for forty years our basic strategy had been not to defend the Philippines and that Japanese encirclement had prevented us from doing anything different than we have done. Some naval experts have insisted that the battle fleet should never have been based at Pearl Harbor, that a scouting fleet should have been maintained in the Far East to protect Hawaii against the very thing that happened, and that the American government should never have looked passively on the fortification of Japan's mandated islands or on the deal between the Vichy government and Japan whereby Indo-China was occupied by the Japanese.

The Roberts report says about our basic naval strategy:

"At our hearings reference was made to what has long been a matter of common knowledge—that there are, and have been, diverse views of national policy respecting the basing of the entire United States Pacific fleet at Pearl Harbor. We feel that the national policy in this matter is one that has been settled by those responsible for such decisions and that it is not in our province . . . to discuss any such topic."

Mr. Roosevelt gives the impression that the basic naval strategy has been settled for many years but in the last nine years that Hitler has been in power there have been many prominent naval men who have tried in vain to get our government to revise its strategy. Some day what the Roberts report failed to discuss will be discussed but this is not the time for such debate as the important job is to win the war with the tools available and with the strategists who have command of our destinies. ITEMS NOT DEDUCTIBLE

Personal, living, or family expenses and capital expenditures are not deductible items in the computation of the statutory net income, whereas all the ordinary and necessary expenses of carrying on any trade or business are deductible.

In the event a taxpayer is engaged in an occupation which requires the use of equipment, as in the cases of Army officers, ball players, firemen, aviators, nurses, and surgeons, the cost of such deductible only to the extent (1) that it is specifically required and (2) that it does not take the place of ordinary clothing. Thus, expenditures for the purchase and cleaning of jockey's uniforms and baseball uniforms are deductible. Baseball players and the cost of raincoats, boots, and helmets of city firemen and policemen are allowable deductions, while the cost of uniforms of Army and Navy officers, nurses, railway trainmen, barbers, and surgeons is a personal expense and not deductible.

Among the nondeductible items of expense paid or incurred by taxpayers during the taxable year there may be mentioned premiums on life insurance policies, insurance paid on a dwelling owned and occupied by a taxpayer, amounts expended in seeking a position or in traveling to the place of a new position, commuters' fares, the cost of post-graduate courses, bar examination fees, expenditures for the maintenance and operation of an automobile used for personal convenience and not by reason of necessity in connection with business, sums paid out as alimony and as an allowance under a separation agreement, penalty payments with respect to Federal taxes—whether on account of negligence, delinquency, or fraud—amounts paid by a parent to emancipated minor children for services rendered by such minor children, and amounts deducted and withheld from the basic salary, pay, or compensation of employees in the civil service of the United States for the retirement fund or from the wages or salary to other employees as Federal old-age benefit tax.

William Warren is the Ulster county chairman.

Miss Alice Wardwell has accepted the position as chairman of the Social Service Department of the O. C. D., and there will be other heads of department who will work under her supervision.

As soon as the first aid course is finished, a course will be started in fire elimination. This will be known as the fire course. It may be attended by any one but is compulsory for air raid wardens, police and the firemen. The course will consist of three hours of study or may be amplified if it is deemed necessary. Reginald Lapo will speak on prevention. Chief Murphy on incendiary fires, and Michael Petrucci on forest fires.

MT. MARION

Mt. Marion, Feb. 24—The Saugerties-Ulster Men's Club will meet in the church hall Tuesday evening. There will be a guest speaker on civilian defense.

Mrs. Paul Lynker, Miss Dorothy Briggs and Mrs. Louise McDonald spent several days in New York the past week.

The Girls' 4-H Club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Gillison Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Snyder entertained eight tables of cards Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Mrs. Harriet Carle is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gaffney of Spring Valley, L. I., spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Julia Gaffney.

Miss Nancy Gillison of Kingston Hospital spent Sunday at her home here.

Miss Addie Pleuss of New York spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Robert Snyder.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Miss Bertha Snyder on Thursday afternoon for quilting.

Mrs. Florence Blackwell of Kingston is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Hill.

The dartball team played the Junior Order at Saugerties Monday evening.

Miss Jane Hunt of Saugerties spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Myer.

Says Springfield Rifles Could Go to Good Hands

New Paltz, N. Y., February 22, 1942

Editor, Kingston Freeman

Kingston, N. Y.

The sun will soon be shining on both sides of the fence, and our playmates from Japan might be inclined to indulge in parachute trips into our beautiful Hudson valley, looking for raspberries, so I am wondering if anyone can tell the people of this section, as well as other sections of our country, what has been done with the Springfield rifle, the army was equipped with until the new rifle was adopted?

It seems to me it would be very nice indeed, if a certain number of these rifles were placed in good hands, in each section of the country, so that in case some of the Japs were trying to make a landing, but might be unable to do so, we might be able to assist them, and at the same time be able to catch up with them before the poor fellows got lost in the woods.

We do not want to rely on pitch forks, as some did in Europe. There are a lot of people, including myself, that do not even own a pea shooter, mainly on account of the law, relative to fire arms.

We wish to remember "Pearl Harbor," as well as what has just happened at "Brest."

Very respectfully,
GEORGE E. RAFTERY

Only One Dairy Case Remains Open For Investigation

Only one of three cases in which area farmers reported trouble in meeting the required standard for bacteria count in their production of milk still remains open for investigation, Dr. Harold Clarke, milk inspector, indicated yesterday afternoon in his report to the Board of Health.

Inability to maintain proper water supply was given as the chief cause of the trouble, according to the inspectors, and farmers reported difficulty in getting necessary parts for chlorination machinery because of government priority rulings.

Through his investigation, Dr. Clarke said, however, he determined that two of the farmers had overcome their trouble and he will determine the status of the third farmer by the end of this week.

Dr. Clarke stressed the point that the farmers could not be blamed and he said that in no case had real serious trouble been caused by the increase in bacteria count.

The board decided to allow the farmers who have such difficulty more time to bring down bacteria counts before taking any action.

A report of the registrar showed that both the death rate and birth rate for January had increased as compared with totals of the corresponding rates last year.

Health Officer Dr. L. E. Sanford reported 90 cases of whooping cough in the city in January. Other illnesses, he said, were at a minimum as compared to the report of January last year.

The report of the registrar in part follows:

Local Death Record

The funeral of Mrs. Pauline McGuire was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home and at St. Colman's Church in East Kingston at 9:30 o'clock when a Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. William Brennan. It was largely attended. There was a profusion of flowers. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Brennan gave the final absolution as the body was laid to rest.

George F. Tanean, for several years a well-known and highly respected resident of this city, died Tuesday evening following a long illness. He was born in New York city and for several years he and his late wife, Theresa A. Dannenberg Tanean, traveled extensively in the theatrical business and had made an enviable record in a musical act. In 1923 they retired and located at Malden, later coming to this city. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Irene Franco McIntosh, of Jackson Heights, L. I. The funeral will be held from the Jensen & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial will be in Montrose cemetery.

The funeral of Egedio Carlo Mainini of Ulster Park who died at the Kingston Hospital Sunday, was held at the parlors of A. Carr and Son 1 Pearl street this morning at 9:30 o'clock and at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock where a solemn requiem high Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Benjamin C. Roth, assistant pastor of the church. Father Peter J. Fox acted as deacon. Father Joseph C. Conner was sub-deacon. There were many beautiful floral tributes from his many friends and relatives. Many friends also called at the parlors to pay their respects. Final services were conducted by Father Fox in St. Mary's cemetery where the burial took place.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary K. McDonald was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Kohler, 19 South Wall street, morning, followed by a high Mass of requiem in St. Joseph's Church. The Mass was offered by the Rev. John D. Simmons. The burial took place in the family plot in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Ravena. The funeral was largely attended and large numbers of floral tributes and Mass cards were sent to the home in memory of Mrs. McDonald, who was held in high esteem. The Rosary was recited at the Kohler home by the Rev. Ed. Burke. The final absolution at the grave was imparted by the Rev. William Murray of St. Patrick's Church, Ravena.

The burial of Mary Smith, who died here Saturday night, took place in Mt. Calvary Cemetery, following a high Mass of requiem offered for the repose of her soul in the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The Rev. Stanislaus J. Malinowski, pastor of the church, was the celebrant of the Mass. Father Malinowski also imparted the final absolution at the grave. For some years Miss Smith was a member of the Rosary Society of the Immaculate Conception Church and members of that society in addition to meeting at the Prusack home to recite the Rosary, for her intention, assembled at the funeral as an honorary escort. The casket bearers were: Kenneth and Paul Demski, Daniel Styles and Lauren Van Valkenburg.

Samuel Verplanck Hoffman, 75, descendant of an early Kingston family, whose home was in Morristown, N. J., died in his New York city apartment, 1772 72nd street, Monday, after a long illness. He was honorary president of the New York Historical Society, of which he was president 1903-1917, and a trustee of the General Theological Seminary, but most of his business life was devoted to managing the extensive real estate properties of the estate of Eugene A. Hoffman. He was a descendant of Martin Hoffman, a Swedish subject, who came to America about 1657, settled in Kingston in 1658 and then moved to Nieuw Amsterdam, now New York city, in 1661, where the family has been very active ever since. He was a native of Brooklyn, son of the Very Rev. Eugene Augustus Hoffman, one time dean of the General Theological Seminary, and Mary Crooke Elmendorf Hoffman. His memberships included the Metropolitan Club, University Club, Morris County Golf Club, Grolier Club, the Players' Club, Nicholas Society, Sons of the Revolution, the Holland Society and the Society of Colonial Wars. He was a veteran of the old 7th Regiment, having enlisted in 1889. He served in the regiment at least 20 years. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Louisa Norwood Smith Hoffman; a daughter, Miss Margaret Elmendorf Hoffman of Morristown; a son, Eugene Augustus Hoffman of Wilton, Conn., and two granddaughters, Miss Patricia Jean Hoffman and Miss Helen Joan Hoffman.

Guitar, Mute and Lonely Has Adventure All Its Own

A singing cowboy's guitar left in a car the other night seemed to have an adventure all its own, according to reports at police headquarters this morning.

At 5:10 p. m. yesterday the police were told that a guitar case had been found under a platform in the rear of the Baltz pajama factory on Greenkill avenue. Officers Robert Murphy and Lemuel Howard brought the case to headquarters and it was later found to be the property of Andy Davis of Nanapanoch who said that the case and guitar had been taken from his car while the latter was parked on Thomas street February 24.

At 3:23 o'clock this morning Officer Gerald Every reported to headquarters that he had found the guitar which apparently belonged to the case among some old packing cases in a shed to the rear of the Greenkill Restaurant.

Later this morning the singing cowboy was notified that both guitar and case were at headquarters, but the police were unable, to date, to establish a motive for its disappearance. It was valued at $125, the police said, but it appears to have been stolen more for spite than for its value to the person or persons who took it.

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—The stock market was handicapped today by lack of leadership and prices were a trifle soft in most departments.

For a time in the morning plus signs held a slight edge. Inability of steels and motors to extend the Tuesday recovery seemed to invite a little general selling and fractional declines predominated near the final hour. A scattering of aircrafts and coppers contested the trend for small gains. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 350,000 shares.

There were a couple of hopeful notes in the war reports but the overall picture was not one to arouse speculative ardor.

Stocks lacking buoyancy most of the time included U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck Standard (N. J.), Texas Co., and Southern Pacific. Showing somewhat better action were American Can, Douglas Aircraft, American Smelting and International Nickel.

Bonds were irregular and commodities lower.

Mayor Stresses Meaning of 'Total'

Says Cooperation of All Needed for Victory

The sooner the American people reach an understanding of the implication of the adjective "total" as applied to "total war," the sooner they will be ready to meet the dangers of today, Mayor William F. Edmuth declared last night in a talk before members of Trinity Lutheran Church Men's Club.

Total war, continued the mayor, means that each of us has an inevitable and inescapable part in this conflict and each one of the 140,000,000 Americans should keep this in mind every minute and every hour of the day.

The totalitarian powers, said the speaker, are making "a total attack, physical, political and economic and psychological, and unless we are able to meet total war we shall go down to total defeat."

The mayor urged the purchase of defense bonds and stamps and the general assistance of every citizen, both in and out of public office to do whatever possible to assist the nation in its current struggle.

"It is our duty as civilians to co-operate to the utmost," he said. "We must not hoard essential commodities necessary for the successful prosecution of the war; we must salvage all materials needed by our government; we must eliminate waste; we must do our own share, lending our assistance and resources to the government to the end that the civilized nations of the world will dictate the peace terms."

"These are hard times—perhaps harder times lie ahead, but as real loyal Americans we will prove to the world that we can take it."

"We and our allies have been defeated on several fronts—more defeats are probable—but we are capable enough, we have the resources, we have the determination to rebound from these defeats and go on to glorious victory. You men are banded together in a strong brotherhood. Outside of Axis spheres, the world hopes and prays that the day will soon come when all nations will be at peace, banded together under the ties of a common brotherhood of men, with all men assured of the right to worship God as he pleases, to live in perfect liberty and live without want or fear. You and I, true Americans, can speed this day."

Strengthen Drive Against Syphilis

Local Organization Will Assist in Campaign

"During these days of stress, the health problems of the military and civilian population are inseparable," President Roosevelt said recently. This statement is perhaps most true when it is applied to the venereal diseases.

During World War No. 1 syphilis and gonorrhea were found to be a leading cause of lost time among military personnel. During that period venereal diseases cost the United States Army and Navy more than seven million days—enough days lost to man nine destroyers or six airplane carriers for a period of one year.

Today Selective Service examinations reveal a syphilis rate of 4.5 per cent among the young men of the country registered for military service.

Syphilis, "the great killer," is public enemy No. 1. It strikes most often at young people between 18 and 30. Its partner plague, gonorrhea, is twice as widespread. Syphilis and gonorrhea together disable or kill thousands of Americans each year.

It has taken patience, also persistent effort, to break down the ancient taboos against public discussion of syphilis and gonorrhea and to arouse the nation to action against these diseases. But the American people are at last learning the truth about venereal diseases, their causes, prevention and cure. Great progress has been made, greater gains must be registered, if syphilis and gonorrhea are to be hunted down and ultimately wiped out. The need for unremitting action now is especially urgent.

During any war period venereal disease control is complicated due to the expanded operations of vice racketeers and prostitutes near armed service training centers.

Wherever prostitutes go, syphilis and gonorrhea are sure to follow, and conditions in civilian and industrial populations are even more serious. The industrial centers to which the workers migrate often do not have the medical nor recreational facilities that they need. Even more important, the industrial workers usually do not have information about syphilis and gonorrhea and their prevention. Syphilis is expensive to industry—it lowers efficiency and raises compensation cost. An employee with untreated syphilis, who injures himself will probably take longer in returning to the job than his uninfected fellow; he may never return because syphilis may strike especially hard at any part of the body that is weakened by trauma.

The American Social Hygiene Association is focusing attention on this problem. Communities from coast to coast will hold meetings to consider effective social hygiene measures for civilian, armed defense and workers in war industries. Religious, educational and welfare groups will be called upon to provide for health and sex education among the people and support for the enforcement of laws against prostitutes and the provision of adequate medical facilities to find and treat the infected.

In cooperation with the National Association, the local Social Hygiene Committee with the Rev. Maurice W. Verno, chairman, working with local organizations is carrying out a program of discussion to assist in this campaign in Ulster county. This program constitutes the first line of national health defense against a national saboteur—venereal disease.

Ulster Expands Plants

Decision to establish nine potato factories in conjunction with the British authorities is announced for North Ireland by the Ministry of Agriculture at Belfast. Previous plans had called for five plants, which are to make potato flour and farm stock feed. Each plant will handle 350 to 500 tons of raw potatoes per week, and the construction program already is under way.

Organized Labor Is Backing Red Cross

Washington, D. C.—Men and women in industry, working extra shifts under efficiency programs to speed up the nation's war production, are mobilizing behind the work of the American Red Cross.

Typical of the activities of the labor unions on behalf of the Red Cross is the drive of the Cleveland Industrial Union Council to obtain 15,000 volunteer donors for the Red Cross Blood Donor Service to help provide plasma for the Army and Navy reserve.

C.I.O. and A.F.L. restaurant workers in Washington, D. C., through the United Cafeteria Workers' Union (C.I.O.) and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Association (A.F.L.), have pledged their cooperation to the Red Cross in mass feeding in case of emergency.

In Detroit a center for union Red Cross activity has been set up by the United Automobile Workers' Auxiliary members. Known as the "East Side, C.I.O. Unit" of the Detroit Chapter, the headquarters is the scene of first-aid classes, enlistment of blood donors and production work for the Red Cross.

A 12-man board, representing all branches of organized labor, is coordinating work among the labor unions in New York city. Most recent development is the naming of 150 War Fund committees among the C.I.O. locals there.

Plants "Lift" Stamps
British officials were baffled when stamps on passenger train parcels sent from Tyneside station vanished. After a profound investigation they found the stamps fixed on the trouser seats of workmen. While waiting for a train the men sat on the parcels. The official report was: "The stamps were recovered from the trousers and were again affixed firmly to the parcels."

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Taking No Chances
Fort Wayne, Ind. — Fred Bledsoe's next-door neighbor told sheriff's deputies somebody had stolen the tires and wheels from Bledsoe's automobile.

Investigating, the deputies found the missing parts under Bledsoe's bed. He had jacked up his car and had hidden the tires and wheels in fear they might be stolen.

Well Prepared
Kent, Conn. — This town of 1,200 population has a fire-fighting crew numbering 500.

Robert Nisbit, artist who had a large part in organizing the force, says "It's none too big because incendiary bombs could start destructive woods fires."

Fisherman's Luck
Santa Barbara, Calif. — John Beard, his 11-year-old son and E. C. Fitzgerald found a school of throw-back size perch nibbling at their hooks so they decided to quit fishing.

They picked up and left—minutes before a shell from an enemy submarine splintered the pier where they'd been sitting.

Zookeepers Note
Green Bay, Wis. — Edward (Happy) Houck, 46, a tavern owner, bought newspaper space to announce he would apply for enlistment in the marines and to send his personal message to the emperor of Japan.

"Hey you, Hirohito . . . the papers say 'the once proud U. S.

Marines are now being humiliated by being forced to draw rickshaws through the streets.' Why, we'll bring a million of your (censored) Japs home to give to the zoo to put in with the monkeys . . . just point out, sergeant, the 20 Japs you want me to take care of."

Amusement Curfew
Rockford, Ill. — A 9 p. m. blackout of all business establishments, taverns, clubs, dance halls and amusement centers "to conserve electricity to aid war production" was proposed by the Rockford Christian Temperance Union to the city council.

AS YOU KNOW, our Government is rationing tin beginning March 1st.

So that means for a time—after present warehouse stocks are exhausted—some of the famous Heinz "57" Varieties will not be available in their familiar tin containers. However, stocks are large enough so that your "57" favorites will probably be on most grocers' shelves for several months at least . . . and after that we have every confidence they'll still be there—but newly packaged.

However, if there should be a period when a few are missing, don't blame your grocer! And don't blame your Government!

Pin full responsibility on Hitler, Hirohito and Benito—and be glad that less tin for us means more bullets and shells for America's guns!

After all, there's no need to fear a shortage of essential foods. America's reserves and resources are too great for that. Unlike most warring nations, we must sacrifice temporarily only our modern, convenient way of enjoying some of the things we like to eat.

For instance, most of the famous "57" Varieties of Heinz quality foods are not affected. There will be no scarcity of the Heinz Baby Foods that are helping the busy mothers give their children the wholesome, nutritious foods young bodies need. Heinz Tomato Juice . . . Heinz Ketchup and Chili Sauce, Pickles, Relishes, Vinegars, Jellies, Peanut Butter, Apple Butter—all these and many more of the "57" are ready to help you keep right on setting the finest table in the world.

What about the future?

Progress due to research helps us face it with confidence. Our Research Laboratories have expanded steadily, until now they have twice the personnel and equipment they had during World War I. And because we have been working constantly on the development of new packages, new products and new methods, this crisis does not find us unprepared!

The House of Heinz steadfastly adheres to its established principle of maintaining, and endeavoring to improve, the high quality of its products.

Now or years from now, when you see the Heinz keystone label you can be sure that it guarantees wholesome, delicious foods of finest quality. That has been true for more than 73 years and will always be true.

Until all this is over and we can go about our daily work in peace and security, we know you will cooperate with your grocer and with your Government in the biggest job of all—winning the war!

County Office Moves

The main office of the Ulster County Chapter American Red Cross, located for several years on the second floor of the building housing the uptown post office at 260 Fair street, will move Thursday, February 26, to new quarters in The Freeman Building at 237 Fair street.

The new office, formerly occupied by the Motor Vehicle Bureau, has been undergoing repairs for the past two weeks in preparation for the Red Cross occupancy. It has served as the headquarters for the War Relief Fund campaign since its inauguration, and will now become the center of activities for the American Red Cross in Ulster county.

Instructor's Course

The American Red Cross instructor's course in first aid will be given in Kingston on Monday, March 2, at the Kingston High School gymnasium, at 7:30 o'clock.

This course is available to all local citizens who have completed training in the standard and advanced Red Cross first aid courses. Application blanks for the instructor's course are now available at the county office at 260 Fair street, and at the new quarters, 237 Fair street, after Thursday, February 26.

John S. Cole, field representative of the American Red Cross, will visit Kingston on March 2 for the purpose of teaching the instructor's course.

Expresses Thanks

Woodstock, Feb. 25—The executive committee of the Woodstock Branch of the American Red Cross wishes to express through the press, its sincere thanks and appreciation to all who have so generously and willingly given of their time, energies and resources to make it possible for Woodstock to raise its quota of $2,500 for the Red Cross War Fund of $50,000,000.

To Martin Comeau who took the chairmanship of the men's committee, to the captains and workers who made the house to house canvass to those who so generously gave their time and talent to make the Waltz and Valentine Balls, and the musicales the remarkable successes that they were, and to the town board for so generously allowing the Red Cross to use the Town Hall.

MILDRED W. TODD,
Chairman.

History of Mexico Is Studied at Lowell Club

Mrs. Arthur Cole of Janet street, was hostess yesterday to the Lowell Club. The group studied the history of Mexico with a particularly interesting paper by Mrs. John Saxe.

She told of the conquest of the Aztecs by Cortez and traced the Spanish rule which was selfish and corrupt. This rule was overthrown during the Napoleonic Wars. At the time of the Civil War, Napoleon III of France placed Maximilian on the throne of Mexico but at the close of the war, the United States forced his troops to withdraw and the Mexican liberal and independent, Juarez, quickly succeeded Maximilian in power.

However, it was not until the death of the dictator, Diaz, that Mexico was able to become a progressive nation. In the past few years she has fought the foreign powers who have come into possession of her mineral wealth. Today Mexico is improving her relations with the United States and the new Pan-American highway has greatly aided the promotion of friendly relations.

Mrs. William Delaplane also read several chapters from Carr's "Old Mother Mexico." Next week the club will meet with Mrs. James Guttridge.

Child Health Clinic at Allaben

The regular monthly Child Health Clinic was held Thursday afternoon, February 19, at the Shandaken Health Center temporary quarters in Allaben. Due to the weather conditions and with the cases of mumps and whooping cough, the attendance was smaller than usual.

Dr. Henry L. Bibby, physician and child specialist of Kingston was present at the clinic. The center has enlisted his services and urges the people of the district to avail themselves of the opportunity to have their youngsters benefit from his examinations.

The transportation committee is considering ways to save tires and gasoline. Notices have been sent to parents in the form of double post cards which require only an answer of yes or no to be filled in.

MRS. CONSTANTINE ZAHARIS

Sunday, February 22, at 2 p. m., in the Church of the Ascension, West Park, Miss Penelope Tsitsera, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tsitsera, of Ulster Park, became the bride of Constantine D. Zaharis, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Zaharis of Charleston, W. Va. Using both the English and Greek services, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Raymond M. O'Brien, rector of the church, and the Rev. E. Spyropoulos of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church, Newburgh.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown with sweetheart neckline and a fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and sweetpeas. Miss Helen Tsitsera was her sister's maid of honor and wore a rose colored tulle gown with a Mary Queen of Scots hat and matching shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers. Miss Margaret Zaharis, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, wore a silver blue tulle gown with Mary Queen of Scots hat and matching shoulder length veil. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers.

George Tsomas of Statesville, N. C. was best man for the bridegroom and ushers were Milton Tsitsera and Michael Tsitsera, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bridal party received 50 guests. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Zaharis left for a wedding trip to New York city and Washington, D. C.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and Moran Business School. Mr. Zaharis is an instrument technician in Charleston, W. Va., where they will make their home.

Entertains at Victory Luncheon

On Monday, Mrs. James Chase was hostess at a victory luncheon in her home at Manor Lake. In view of the present war conditions and their influence on the amount one should spend in entertaining, Mrs. Chase decided to prove that the number of parties need not be fewer because of expenses. Covers were laid for eight at a cost of less than $1.

Her menu consisted of tomato cocktail, cheese and rice souffle, grapefruit salad, raisin puffs with vanilla sauce, demi-tasse and melba toast with jam. She pointed out that the tomato cocktail was served without checkers and the demi-tasse of course did not require sugar or cream, and butter was not necessary except in cooking.

The guests were not aware of the small cost of the luncheon until they received their tally cards for the afternoon of bridge which followed. Mrs. Chase had listed the menu and the approximate cost of each item. All agreed that there had been plenty for eight persons including two helpings of the cheese and rice souffle.

Miss Wisneski Honored

Mrs. Walter Geisel entertained at a surprise shower in honor of Miss Kathleen Wisneski last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. John Rice, Sr., 121 Pine Grove avenue. Miss Wisneski will become the bride of John R. Rice, Jr., in the near future. Refreshments were served and music and singing enjoyed by all.

Among those who attended were: Mrs. Edward Wisneski, Mrs. John Rice, Mrs. Francis Gallagher, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Mrs. Bernard Galvin, Mrs. Jesse Sparling, Mrs. Robert Winchell, Mrs. Richard Rice, Mrs. Frank Grancy, Mrs. Thomas Stenson, Mrs. J. Keizer, Mrs. Lewis Voigt, Mrs. John Galvin, Mrs. John Dermody, Mrs. Robert Joseph, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Charles Kinkade, Mrs. John Flaherty, Mrs. Walter Geisel, and the Misses Nellie Dunn, Loretta Dunn, Loretta Wisneski, Bessie Rice, Evelyn Geisel, Ruth Dunner, Marjorie Kearney, Madeline Rice, Dolores Dermody, Patricia Rice, Eileen Rice, Marilyn Rice and Maureen Rice.

Keiser-Hornbeck

New Paltz, Feb. 25.—Miss Alice Dawson Hornbeck, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Hornbeck of Poughkeepsie, was united in marriage to Milton Paltz Keiser, son of Mrs. Grace Keiser of Poughkeepsie at a wedding in the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, February 22, in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride was given in marriage by her aunt, Mrs. Fred C. Hornbeck, and wore a street length dress of light blue crepe with blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Lindley J. Keiser was the brother's best man.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Keiser left for a wedding trip to New York city. The bride is a graduate of New Paltz Normal School. Mr. Keiser is associated with the insurance office of Waterman and Heaton of Poughkeepsie.

Personal Notes

Dinner

Celery Corn Soup Crackers
Broiled Lamb Chop
Vegetable Plate Peach Jam
Graham Bread Crisp Carrot Strips
Fresh Apple Sauce Coffee

Cheese Waffles

1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk
3/4 cup milk
1/3 cup grated cheese
4 tablespoons fat, melted
1 egg white, beaten
Mix flour, baking powder, salt, yolk, milk. Beat 2 minutes. Lightly mix in rest of ingredients. Bake on hot waffle iron until brown. Turn onto warm platter and cover with beef.

Frizzled Dried Beef

3 tablespoons bacon fat
1/2 cup shredded dried beef
3 tablespoons flour
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon paprika
1 1/2 cups milk
Heat fat, add beef, cook until edges frizzle. Stir constantly. Add flour. Cook slowly and stir until brown. Add rest of ingredients and boil until creamy.

This beef is very good on baked or mashed potatoes, boiled rice cakes or buttered macaroni.

Ham-Pickle roll-ups are fine for cocktail or buffet supper serving. Wrap thin slices of boiled ham around medium-sized sweet pickles or thin strips of dills. Peg with picks and chill until needed. Arrange spoke fashion on a shallow dish, stick into a glass container or flower holder.

HOME BUREAU

Mrs. Helen Goodrich Buttrick, of Woodstock, will give a clothing demonstration before the members of the Ulster County Home Bureau at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 2:30 p. m. March 4. Her subject will be, "Choosing the Becoming Costume."

For many years Mrs. Buttrick taught courses in clothing selection at Iowa and Michigan State Colleges and the University of Chicago. Her textbook, "Principles of Clothing Selection," published by MacMillan, has been a standard textbook on clothing selection for many years. Mrs. Buttrick will be assisted by members of the Ulster County Home Bureau, who will act as models and wear clothing illustrating points made in the talk.

Clothing Order Comes

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—R. R. Guthrie, textile chief of the war production board, dropped a hint today that "all wool" labels might disappear from civilian clothing by the end of the year as the W. P. B. ordered drastic curtailment in use of high grade new wool for civilian uses. Guthrie said an order would be issued soon requiring clothing manufacturers to blend substitute fibers—such as cotton and rayon—with new wool for civilian uses.

GIRL WANTS HER TWIN BROTHER TO GIVE HER AWAY IN MARRIAGE

It seems impossible—and yet questions about weddings that I have never before heard of, do continue to arrive. Two brand new ones came today. The first is from a bride who has a twin brother. They always have been as close to each other as twins often are. Now, however, the brother is in camp and the sister, who has become engaged, writes to me:

"We expect to be married when Jimmy (my brother) comes home on furlough. And my question is: may Jimmy walk up the aisle in church with me and give me away, and father sit with Mother in the front pew?"

"Father, who always understands, is perfectly willing, but my aunt—who is a stickler for doing everything according to rule—is making a terrible fuss and says that other people will think there is friction between Father and me, and that Father's prestige as head of the family, will suffer."

"I wouldn't want any of this to happen of course. I adore Father and honor him absolutely. The funny part is that he is the only one who really understands how I feel about taking these very last steps as Jane Jones with Jimmy! After this I'll be Mrs. Johnson! Perhaps it sounds coo-coo, but either way, will you answer please?"

To this it seems to me that there is a perfectly practical answer: This is to have your brother walk up the aisle with you, but have your father give you away. When you approach the chancel steps and are greeted by your fiancé, your brother and your father change places. This would enable your father and your brother each to take the part of principal importance to him, and at the same time avoid possible disapproval.

Two Ring Bearers

This is the other new question: Dear Mrs. Post: There is going to be a large wedding in our family in the Spring. There will be eight bridesmaids and a maid of honor and I would like to include two 4-year-old nephews. I am wondering whether this might be possible since there will be two rings?

Answer: I see no reason why not. One little boy can proffer his cushion to the bride and the other to the bridegroom.

Who Takes the Prize

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and a girl win first prize at a dance contest, and the prize is something which cannot be divided, to whom does it belong?

Answer: The girl. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Teach Self Piano With Easy Chart

Music Way To Popularity

"That girl of yours is a wonder!" Delicious compliments like that make piano-playing doubly thrilling!

But to learn in a few short months (or weeks!) makes it doubly thrilling.

You may learn that quickly, teaching yourself with a keyboard chart. This chart matches your real keyboard and shows you—just like a teacher—what key to play for each note.

For the music staff and notes are pictured on the chart and a line points from each note to the key it represents.

And the keyboard itself isn't so frightening when you discover the same seven white keys are repeated throughout its length. Our diagram shows them to you.

From your first lesson you can start playing simple tunes. If you yearn to learn a lot of popular music quickly—and thrill your crowd—there's a short-cut way.

New Red Cross Branch To Aid Sea Survivors

Wilmington, Del.—A new office of the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross will be opened at Lewes, Del., to provide prompt assistance to the survivors of any ships torpedoed off the Delaware coast in the future, it was announced here.

The Lewes office of the Delaware chapter, which has headquarters in Wilmington, will be headed by Mrs. M. H. McVaugh, director of branches for the chapter.

Since January 26, a total of 85 survivors of three torpedoed merchant ships have been brought into the Lewes Coast Guard station. In each case Red Cross workers stood ready to provide the men with food and clothing. In addition, they sent messages to the families of the men.

Mrs. McVaugh revealed that 377 articles of clothing were provided for the men, and 72 messages dispatched to their families.

At the new Red Cross branch, volunteer workers will be on call at all hours to provide for the needs of the men. Supplies of clothing and food, cigarettes and comfort articles will be kept on hand.

Congress Drops Pensions Law

Taxpayer Indignation Causes Members to Repeal

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Congress has washed its hands of the pensions law, which has brought tons of angry mail from taxpayers since it was signed by the President January 26.

The House vote was 389 to 7. Actually it was on a technical motion instructing house conferees to retain a senate amendment to a minor naval bill. The Senate amendment repealed the congressional pensions.

"We are on a spot," one representative said, looking ahead to the fall campaign, "and don't you think a lot of the boys aren't worried."

"Regardless of the repeal vote the fact remains that no one opposed the pensions when they came up originally on unanimous consent procedure."

Trinity Methodist Church Mid-Week Lenten Services

The theme for the mid-week Lenten services at Trinity Methodist Church will be "The Light That Shines in the Darkness." These services are held each Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The following is the schedule:

February 26.—The Light Through God's Word. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light to my pathway."

March 5.—The Light of God's Holy Spirit. "The true light, which lighteth every man that cometh unto the world."

March 12.—The Light Through Sincere Worship. "Until I went into the Sanctuary of God, then understood I their end."

March 19.—The Light Through Obedience. "He that is willing to do my will, shall know."

March 26.—The Light of Consistent Living. "Let your light so shine, that others may see your good works and glorify your Father in Heaven."

The public is invited to these services.

Red Cross Office In Freeman Building

The office of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, which for several years has occupied offices in the uptown post office building at 260 Fair street, today was moved to 237 Fair street in the Freeman Building.

After today the old office will be closed and all business will be transacted from the new location where the Red Cross will carry on all of its activities, including the receipt of funds for the War Relief Fund.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Monday evening the Kingston District held its winter court and many awards were presented. Second Class Scouts received the pins from Charles Davis, First Class Scouts from Walter T. Tremper, Star Scouts from Gordon Graig, Life Scouts from Edward Luedtke, and the Eagle award was presented by Clarence Dumm.

A special award was also made by Mr. Dumm to William Kinch, Scout King on January 17, who rushed to a neighboring house and found that a man was caught in a burning room and using his knowledge of first aid learned as a scout, he was able to get into the room and drag the man out into the hall. This act was brought to the attention of the Court of Honor by the daughter of the man and after considering the work done by Scout Kinch the members authorized the presentation of a first aid award. This came as a total surprise to the scout and his father and mother who were asked to come to the front for the presentation. The merit badges were awarded by the chairman of the court, Ward Tongue, and Dr. H. W. Keator made the Eagle Palm awards. The Rev. Russell Damstra gave the mothers pins to the scouts who had made advancement to present to their mothers. Troop No. 11 of St. James Church had charge of the opening and closing ceremonies.

The awards are:

Second class—Joseph Carroll, Troop 3; Raymond Bonse, 3; Francis Danahy, 3; John DeGasperie, 3; Charles Guadagnola, 3; Thomas McNelis, 3; William Tedesco, 3; Eugene Radell, 3; Joseph Kline, 5; Saul Schechter, 5; Ralph Kiff, 6; Bertrand Burr, 7; Ronald Boyce, 8; Harry Koch, 8; George Booklos, 11; George Geisler, 11.

First class—Donald Droulette, Troop 3; Thomas Mackey, 3; Joseph Schrowang, 3; Robert Conlon, 3; John Cordts, 3; Carl Thurin, 3; Robert Schantz, 8; Robert Gill, 10; Daniel Styles, 10; Edward Maines, 26.

Eagle bronze palms—Richard Walman, Troop 6; Eugene McConnell, 7; Robert Tremper, 11.

Eagle gold palm—Elmore J. Carson, Troop 3; John Cerasaro, 7; Robert Short, 7; L. B. Herrington, 7; Gordon Craig, Jr., 8; Donald Dumm, 12.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Every person, declares Governor Lehman, has "a prime responsibility to become nutrition minded, first aid minded, socially minded, in order that we can deal with the problems of the cost of living, budget management, health maintenance and restoration" involved in the war. "Democracy established individual responsibility; accomplishment of protective tasks cannot be dealt with by proxy," the governor told a conference of state public welfare officials last night.

Supplies Is Promoted For The Third Time

Frederick George Supplies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Henry Supplies of 30 Hurley avenue, has been advanced to the rate of aviation machinist's mate third class in the United States Navy, according to word received recently from the Office of Public Relations at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas.

The 21-year-old youth enlisted in the navy on January 16, 1941 and has been promoted three times since that date. He has been stationed at the navy's gigantic new "University of the Air" at Corpus Christi since September 7, 1941. Following his recruit training and instruction period at Newport, R. I., he was selected to attend the aviation machinist's mate school at Pensacola, and from this navy trade school made him eligible for his latest promotion, which carries with it a considerable increase in pay and rates him as a third class petty officer.

Today there are thousands of patriotic, ambitious young men throughout the nation who are answering their country's call to arms and at the same time learning a profitable trade through enlistment in the navy. Offering more than 40 trade courses, the navy is fully equipped to give these men the finest technical training in the world.

Blandford Consolidates Federal Housing Agencies

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—John B. Blandford, Jr., 44-year-old engineer, today began streamlining and consolidating nearly a score of federal housing agencies to fit both their activities and personnel into the war program.

Blandford was appointed by President Roosevelt to be National Housing Administrator and commissioned to blend the agencies into a new organization to be known as the National Housing Agency.

The agencies to be consolidated include the Home Owners Loan Corporation, Federal Housing Administration, Defense Homes Corporation, United States Housing Authority, Federal Home Loan Bank Board and many others. Formerly, they were semi-autonomous units of the Federal Works Agency.

Blandford, who was general manager of the Tennessee Valley Authority at the age of 38, has been assistant director of the budget for the last three years. He is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Recreations Play Harlem Yankees Tonight at Auditorium

Tickets Have Been Selling Rapidly for Professional Game

Two Former Renaissance Players to Be With Visitors; Battle Starts 9:15 P. M.

The Kingston Recreations, winners over the famous Detroit Eagles last week, will play host to the Harlem Yankees, outstanding Negro basketball team at the municipal auditorium tonight. Game time is slated for 9:15 o'clock.

This morning the department of recreation announced that reserved seat tickets have been selling better for this game than any previous one which apparently means that one of the biggest turnouts will be on hand tonight to see these two professional clubs in action.

Manager "Turk" Karam's Recreations will be in for a stormy night as far as advanced reports have it concerning the Harlem Yankees. The Yankees play a hard ball game from start to finish. The two most outstanding players are Lou Badger and Johnny Isaacs, two former Original Renaissance cagers.

Badger is one of the smallest and best men in basketball today. His speed and accurate shooting labels him as a man to watch. Isaacs, former Textile High School star, played basketball there and later with the Rens as did Badger. Isaacs stands five feet nine inches and always is a popular player.

Another member of the squad is Captain Benny Garrett, also of Textile High where he was one of the outstanding players. He is one of the best ball handlers on the squad.

The Yankees also have Frank Caffey, six foot, one inch cager, who attended New York University and Maine University. Eddie Wright and Joe Howard, also are with the team.

That's the personnel of the Harlem Yanks for tonight's game. Manager Karam will counter with his own selection of all-star talent which gave local fans a thriller here last Wednesday night.

Bernie Fielegel and Sammy Kaplan, will of course headline the team. These two boys are favorites here and fans are expected to flock to the auditorium again to see them portray their basketball ability.

Knapp in Lineup
The players who made their debut here last week before local spectators in that game against the Detroit Eagles and ready for tonight's action are Nick Shaback, Joe O'Neil, Larry Dodick and Ole Terjesen. Willie Knapp is by no means a newcomer.

Knapp is staying with Kingston by popular demand. He's one ball player who captures the eye of all basketball fans when he's in there playing the brand of ball fans like to watch.

Tonight's prelim starts at 8 o'clock between the Epsteins and Joneses. The former team has added Don Schoonmaker and Poppel of the High Falls team to their lineup and are showing improvement in every game.

N.Y.U. Dropped Football Schedule Because of Thrift

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—New York University, fifth college in the United States to have a football team, has dropped the gridiron sport for reasons of economy. The school's last two seasons, winners of only four out of 18 contests, were maintained at an approximate deficit of $65,000 and late yesterday the institution's governing body voted to join the University of Chicago of the Big Ten Conference in doing without football.

That ended a gridiron "life" started with a defeat by Stevens Institute, 6 goals to 1, in 1873. During the following years the Violets played 393 contests, of which they won 178, lost 186 and tied 29.

JOHNNY ISAACS
Here's one of the basketball stars who will be with the strong Harlem Yankees tonight at the municipal auditorium in their game against "Turk" Karam's Kingston Recreations. The player is Johnny Isaacs, five foot, nine inch, cager who formerly attended Textile High in New York City. Isaacs played basketball on two championship teams there and later hooked up with the Original Renaissance.

Boston, Feb. 25 (AP)—The receipt of the signed contract of Clyde Klutz, a 336-hitting catcher drafted from the Sacramento Pacific Coast League club, may have been taken in stride by most of the Boston Braves' supporters but President Bob Quinn regarded it as most important.

Although he never has seen Klutz perform, Quinn has been high on him since the St. Louis Cardinals, who operate the Sacramento club as a farm team, offered three times the $7,500 draft price to get him back.

Brown Recalls Coach

Providence, R. I., Feb. 25 (AP)—Brown, which has sent many of her sons into the major leagues, has recalled one of them, Edwin Eysers of Providence, to succeed the veteran Jack Kelleher as varsity baseball coach. Kelleher resigned to devote full time to his Brookline, Mass., municipal duties.

Eysers quit Brown as a sophomore in 1914 to join the Pittsburgh Pirates. He also played for the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Boston Braves and several Minor League clubs.

Bob Pastor Registers K. O. Over Franklin in Eighth

Experts Believe Jacobs Is Planning Third Louis

Pastor Bout; 13:27

Fans See Fight

Cleveland, Feb. 25 (AP)—Bob Pastor, who twice sampled Joe Louis' dynamite and lived, is itching for a third try at the heavyweight champion after proving that he, too, can knock them flat. Tricky Robert surprised even himself by sending heavily-favored Lem Franklin flat on his face, for keeps, last night in the eighth stanza of a scrap booked for ten. Many observers had reckoned Pastor might win by outboxing the Chicago slugger, but the manner of the triumph surprised all of the 13,278 customers who laid down $52,457 to give Promoter Bob Brickman a record Cleveland indoor gate.

As a result, there was little doubt today that the New Yorker would catch himself a third chance against the man he respectfully calls "Mr. Joe." Nobody gives Pastor much change against Uncle Sam's No. 1 fighting private, but the guessers already reckoned Mike Jacobs would line things up for this summer.

Pastor entered the ring a 5-2 underdog and spotted 16½ pounds to Lem, who scales 197½. He took the negro's heaviest artillery in the first three rounds, including a right that opened a cut over his left eye in the second. But he stayed right there, confusing his foe with fancy footwork and quick jabs, noting his faults and waiting his chance.

It came in the eighth. After Pastor saw Franklin had lost his zip and was defending poorly, he unleashed a flurry of rights and lefts that even a lightning calculator couldn't count. Franklin retreated to the ropes. Bob followed, firing like a machine gun. He must have thrown 30 punches before the helpless Chicagoan flopped, full length, flat on his face. Lem got up at the count of ten and staggered to the ropes, his nose bleeding, as Referee Joe Sedley raised a kyo to two minutes, eight seconds.

"I didn't have a knockout in mind—I never think of one," said happy Bob. "I noticed Franklin was standing up and getting careless. I thought 'this can't go on' and then—boom, boom, boom, and he was gone."

Glum Lem remarked "I didn't have any pep, I couldn't handle myself right—I was drawn too fine. That's the worst I have ever boxed. But I'd like another fight with him."

Sagedorf and Herrick Pace Attack With 16 Points; Monticello Here on Friday

Coach G. Warren Kias' Kingston High School basketball team continued to ride the path of victory last night at the municipal auditorium by registering an overwhelming win over Saugerties by the score of 56 to 26.

It was Kingston's second straight over Coach Larry Cahill's tossers from the north Ulster town. And it was the Maroon's third straight impressive triumph. Friday night Kingston returns to the DUSO circuit by playing host to Monticello at the auditorium.

Last night it was another one of those games when the power of the Maroon team was by far too great for the weak opposition. The Kiasmen opened with a deadly 10 to 2 lead in the first period, and led at half time by 29 to 5.

Leading the assault on Saugerties were Rod Sagedorf and Captain Ray Herrick who tossed in 16 points apiece, a total which even surpassed the entire Saugerties quintet.

With these two basketweavers in top scoring form there wasn't much left for Saugerties to hope for. "Zeke" Zelle followed with seven points. Gardner and Ackert scored eight and six points respectively for the losing quintet.

Coach Kias used 10 men in last night's easy triumph over hapless Saugerties five. After the Maroon greets had moved out in front by such a commanding lead, the Maroon mentor called upon his reserves who continued to dish out scores. Every Kingston player with the exception of Morton hit the scoring column.

Class B Winners in Bowling Tournament

In a final tabulation of scores by members of the Journal-American bowling tournament in New York city, the Joneses of this city, members of the Colonial Women's League, have been awarded first prize in the Class B finals as a result of their sizzling 2376 series rolled in the tourney February 15 at the Lexington Bowling Center in New York. Queens City of Poughkeepsie received second place. To win the first place prize the Joneses rolled games of 878, 725 and 773. Evelyn Provenzano rolled scores of 223, 144 and 167 for a high-money triple of 534; Doris Harvey hit 202, 168 and 130 for 500; Rose Schatzel blasted the maples for 169, 162 and 169 for an even 500; Kay Robertson bowled a 424 triple on scores of 150, 123 and 161; Evelyn Jones followed with 134, 128 and 156 for her 418 three. In the above photo standing left to right, are members of the championship team, Evelyn Provenzano, Rose Schatzel, Evelyn Jones, Kay Robertson and Doris Harvey.

Sacred Hearts Take 2nd Half of Catholic League By Beating St. Marys, 28-26

Tucker's Overtime Deuce Nips Saints in M.J.M. Game, Knights and St. Josephs Win

The Sacred Hearts clinched the second half of the Catholic Basketball League last night at the Myron J. Michael School gym the hard way. An overtime period was required before the Polish quintet won the game from St. Mary's five.

After the regulation game had ended with the score tied 26-26, Don Tucker, forward of the Sacred Hearts, looped in an important basket and that one shot won the ball game and the second half bunting. The final score was 28 to 26.

George Dougherty, leading scorer of the circuit, paced the winners with 11 points. Albright followed with seven. Dugan scored 11 for the losing five. At the end of the first half the Sacred Hearts held a 13 to 8 edge.

St. Joseph's cagers led at half time by 12 to 8 and continued to play winning ball throughout the third and fourth periods to register a 22 to 18 victory over the Holy Name of Wilbur. Sheehan paced the victors with 13 points. Kennedy with eight was high for Wilbur.

The Knights of Columbus quintet eked out a close 20 to 19 triumph over the Port Ewen Presentation which was close all the way. The Knights held a slim lead of 9 to 7 after the first two periods of play.

Johnny Zeeh registered nine for the winners while Sass of Port Ewen was high for his club with five.

Reds Going Strong
Tampa, Fla.—Despite the wind and adverse weather, the Cincinnati Reds are rounding into shape on schedule but what's really making the rookies hustle is the presence of Jewel Ens, manager of the Reds' farm club at Syracuse. Ens is looking for players and the freshmen would like to show up so well that Manager Bill McKechnie will tell the farm boss "hands off."

The United Kingdom recently bought 200,000 cases of onions from Spain.

Central Rec League

Phil Masters of the Unknowns walked off with the highest triple in the Central Recreation League last night at the Central Rec alleys as he pounded out 620. Masters rolled games of 202, 206 and 212. His bowling helped his club to defeat the Crystals in three games. The Unknowns, led by Phil Masters, hit the high single score Terriers, hit the high single score of 220. Ken Van Etten of the winners had a good night with a 212 single and 561 three-game series.

Phil Corrado, Van Loan and George Dawkins paced Dawkins with triples of 536, 518 and 513. Van Loan's 195 single was high for the team.

Freeman League Notes

At the Immanuel alleys last night in The Freeman League Team No. 1, captained by Jack Hartman, advanced to a lead of four full games by whipping the second place team, No. 3, in two games.

Hartman himself paced the leaders with a 547 high three-game total and also the high single of 213. Captain Nick Bruck of No. 3 led his squad with 460.

Following Hartman's high 213 single came Jimmy Little with 191 in his second game. He had other scores of 139 and 132 to give him a 462 triple.

As a result of last night's games No. 1 had won 18 and lost six while No. 2 stands with a record of 14 victories and 10 reverses.

Liquor Dealers to Buy $250,000 U. S. Bonds

At a recent meeting in Syracuse of the New York State Wholesale Liquor Association, comprising wholesale liquor dealers in upstate New York, a resolution was unanimously adopted that during the current year members of the association and their associates should purchase at least $250,000 of United States Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The resolution also pledges the absolute allegiance to "our country and to the commander-in-chief in this hour of national peril."

It also resolves to encourage all in the industry to make themselves available for any and all services they are able to render. They will also endeavor to have the entire personnel of the organization make regular allotments from their earnings for the purchase of United States Savings Bonds and Stamps.

A substantial contribution toward the $45,000 American Red Cross War Fund to be raised by the Ulster County Committee will help keep the fighting men, healthy, happy and efficient.

Organized Reserve Divisions Called To Active Duty

Three divisions of the Organized Reserves, the 77th, 82nd and 90th Infantry Divisions, all with brilliant World War records, will be called into active service with the Army on March 25, the War Department announced today.

These are the first three of 27 Organized Reserve Infantry Divisions to be called to active duty under the program announced recently by the Honorable Henry L. Stimson, the Secretary of War. An executive order authorizing the summons was signed by President Roosevelt February 6.

The 77th Infantry Division will be assembled and trained at Fort Jackson, South Carolina; the 82nd at Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, and the 90th at Camp Barkeley, Texas.

Major General Robert L. Eichelberger, U. S. Army, former Commandant of the United States Military Academy at West Point, has been named to command the 77th Division. Major General Omar N. Bradley, U. S. Army, will command the 82nd Division, and Major General Henry Terrell, Jr., the 90th Division.

Commissioned and enlisted cadres for the newly organized divisions already have been assigned to service schools and existing units for refresher courses and special training. Except for this small trained cadre, enlisted men for these new divisions will be assigned directly from Army Reception Centers. Their basic training, instead of being given at Replacement Training Centers, will be provided by their own divisions.

Thus, from the time they enter the service they will be welded and trained into team members of their own battle units.

The 77th Division, known as the "Metropolitan Division" because its members came from New York city and the immediate vicinity, became famous through the feat of its "Lost Battalion," commanded by Major Charles W. Whittlesey, Infantry.

This "Battalion," including six companies of the 308th Infantry, one company of the 307th, and parts of two companies of the 306th Machine Gun Battalion, for five days—from October 2 to October 7, 1918—fought off furious German attacks while trapped ahead of its own front lines in the Argonne Forest along Charlevoix Creek, just east of Charlevoix Mill. Without food and with little water, the men of the "Lost Battalion" put up a defense that the enemy never broke.

Major Whittlesey was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for leading this courageous defense against seemingly overwhelming odds.

The 82nd, known as the "All-American Division," and composed of men from Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee, gave to World War history the famous Sergeant Alvin C. York, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his share in the capture of 132 prisoners, including five officers, of a German Machine Gun Battalion near Cornay, in the Argonne, October 8, 1918. York and his men thus opened a path for the successful advance of the entire Division.

Major Whittlesey's and Sergeant York's feats of valor were accomplished almost in the same operation and within three miles of each other. At the time of York's exploit, the 82nd Division had just completed a daring attack in company with the 28th Division, by which the pressure on the "Lost Battalion" was relieved.

Only about one-third of the 600 men of the "Lost Battalion" who entered the ravine along Charlevoix Creek were able to leave the steep hillsides they so valiantly held.

Another singular link between the 77th and 82nd Divisions is that at different times each was commanded by the same man, Major General George B. Duncan. General Duncan commanded the 77th Division when it entered the lines for training June 21, 1918, until July 20, and from July 28 to August 19. From October 4 to November 11, 1918, General Duncan commanded the 82nd Division. Major General William P. Burnham was in command of the 82nd before General Duncan.

Other commanders of the 77th Division were Brigadier General Evan M. Johnson, who led the organization temporarily during General Duncan's absence from July 20 to July 28, and again from August 19 to August 27, when Major General Robert A. Alexander took command.

The 90th, known as the "Alamo Division" because its members came from Texas and Oklahoma, entered the battle lines for training August 24, 1918, on the St. Mihiel front, west of Pont-a-Mousson. It took a prominent part in the battle of St. Mihiel, September 12-16, capturing the Bois des Rapides, and remained on that front until October 10 in the Preney sector. It moved to the Meuse-Argonne front, remaining in the battle line from October 22 until the Armistice was signed November 11. In this battle it fought brilliantly at Bantheville, Andevanne and Stenay, slashing its way across the Meuse River to positions beyond the east bank near Baalon on Armistice Day.

The 90th Division was commanded through its entire front line service by Major Henry T. Allen.

Louis Will Fight

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Private Joe Louis will make the 21st defense of his heavyweight boxing title in a 15-round bout against Abe Simon at Madison Square Garden Friday, March 27.

The show will be for the benefit of the army emergency fund. The announcement was made jointly today by Promoter Mike Jacobs and Major General Irving J. Phillipson and Colonel H. Clay M. Supplee, representing the fund, which provides for both enlisted men and selectees. Louis, as in his recent bout for the navy relief fund, with Buddy Baer, will donate his entire purse. Jacobs again will donate his share of the profits. Simon will get 15 per cent, but will turn back 2½ per cent to the fund.

F. M. Buckley Dies

Boonville, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Frederick M. Buckley, 55, Boonville postmaster since 1933, died yesterday.

ATTRACTIVE PLATES OF COOKIES ARE PERFECT FOR SPECIAL PARTY MENUS

You can present an impressive array of fancy cookies that will create a sensation with your guests at your next party without spending too much time or money in the process. The latest Cookbooklet release, "The Cookie Book," 17th in the Kingston Daily Freeman's series, suggests so many clever cookie recipes that you'll have no trouble selecting an interesting variety.

A variety of luscious morsels like these on your buffet table will make you a popular hostess—be sure to make enough of them. The new Cookie Book will give you as many suggestions as you want.

Meringues, kisses, macaroons, cookie bars, nut and fruit combinations, filled cookies and many others lend themselves beautifully to party tables. There's something especially luxurious about a table laden with different kinds of cookies, too.

Filled cookies are especially adaptable to festive occasions because they are richer than other types and can be made in unusual shapes. There are three types of filled cookies. The first and most usual, uses sugar cookie dough as a base, the second, is the rolled dough type and third is the type which may be called the sandwich cookie. This last type is practical because you can bake your cookies and fill them as you wish to use them, thereby preserving the crispness of the dough.

Foundation Filled Cookies

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cup sweet milk
3½ cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream well together. Add vanilla and beaten egg and beat. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with the milk to the fat mixture, beating till well blended. Chill at least 15 minutes before rolling out so the soft dough will be more easily handled. Roll about ¼ inch thick on a floured, cloth covered board and cut with round cookie cutter. Put a teaspoon of any favorite filling in center of one cookie and cover with another. Press edges together and if desired, brush top with egg or milk and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.).

Date Filling

2 cups dates
2/3 cup sugar
2/3 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon salt

Cook dates, sugar and water together until thick. Add the lemon juice, butter and salt. Other dried fruits such as raisins or figs may be used in this recipe.

There are many other filling suggestions using fresh, dried and mixed fruits as well as other ingredients.

Other fancy cookies for party serving are described throughout the Cookie Book.

To obtain each Cookbooklet present 13c and one coupon from the Kingston Daily Freeman at any outlet mentioned therein. You may order by mail if you wish. Just send one coupon from page two and 16c for each booklet (13c for book and 3c for postage) to the Cookbooklet Dept., Kingston Daily Freeman, Freeman Square, Kingston, N. Y.

Amended Measure Will Grant Local Defense Authority

ing Governor Lehman's proposed $377,000,000 state budget for the next fiscal year, indicated agreement on continuance of a $2,055,000 reduction in state aid for education.

Despite heavy demands from teachers organizations for full state aid to schools and protests they cannot operate adequately on the $113,000,000 appropriation recommended by the governor, a Republican spokesman asserted. "I don't see how we can do it."

Meantime, the legislature's mortgage moratorium committee recommended continuance of the 1933 ban on foreclosures with interest concessions to those making payments on mortgage principal.

The committee also advocated revision of a law adopted last year requiring a one per cent annual payment on mortgage principal after next July 1.

Red Cross Will List Needs on Knitted Goods

In response to inquiries from patriotic women throughout the country who desire to knit articles of clothing for soldiers, the War Department today reiterated its request that they first ascertain from the Red Cross the need for specific articles.

This action was taken in an effort to conserve the wool supply of the nation, and to prevent any waste of this vital material through manufacture of articles which are not needed.

Whenever there is a need for privately contributed articles, this need will be made known by army officers to the Red Cross, and women desiring to knit for soldiers are requested to first obtain information as to what is needed from local Red Cross chapters.

At the present time, it was stated, the Red Cross is accumulating ample supplies of knitted helmets and scarves for immediate needs.

There is less need in the present conflict for articles of clothing to protect soldiers from the cold than was the case in the World War.

Soldiers on duty in cold climates are provided with clothing that is wind-proof and water-repellent, and in stations where there is extreme cold, fur parkas and mittens are part of the equipment issued by the army quartermaster corps.

Representatives of Swedish employers and Swedish labor unions met recently and made a master agreement governing wages in Sweden in 1942.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 104 and 256.
